

Hello, dear friends!

Welcome to the world of books!

Try to guess the riddle

It has no mouth but speaks.
It is not a tree but it has leaves.
It is not alive but it can be a good friend

A book, I think, is very like
A little golden door,
That takes me into places
Where I've never been before

Rudyard Kipling

- Rudyard Kipling is one of the outstanding British writers. He was born in 1865 in the family of an Englishman in India. He got his education in England but returned to India in 1882. In 1890 he published his first novel «The Light that Failed», which brought him fame. He was one of the most popular writers of his time. During his life he visited South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Japan. During the years of Anglo-Boer War Kipling used to visit the English Army. His novel «Kim» was written under the impressions of the War. In October 1902 his «Just so Stories for Little Children» were published. His fairy-tales from the book were rather unusual for the British literature of that period. The unusual effect of his tales is reached by the rhythm and the music of words. Besides, not only children but even adults were very fond of «Just so Stories». Together with «The Jungle Book» it still enjoys great popularity. In 1907 Kipling was awarded the Nobel prize
