The background of the slide is a vibrant underwater scene. Two dolphins are swimming towards the right. The dolphin in the foreground is larger and more prominent, showing its dorsal fin and sleek body. The second dolphin is slightly behind and higher up. The water is clear and blue, with sunlight filtering through. On the right side, there is a coral reef with various green and brown corals. The overall atmosphere is serene and natural.

The Incredible Dolphin

1 Many people say dolphins are very intelligent. They seem to be able to think, understand, and learn things quickly. But are they smart like humans or more like cats or dogs? Dolphins use their brains differently from people. But scientists say 6 dolphin intelligence and human intelligence are alike in some ways. How?

FACT 1: Talk to Me

Like humans, every dolphin has its own “name.” The name is a special whistle. Each dolphin chooses a specific whistle 10 for itself, usually by its first birthday. Actually, scientists think dolphins, like people, “talk” to each other about a lot of things, such as their age, their feelings, or finding food.
And, like humans, dolphins use a system of sounds and body language to communicate. But understanding their 15 conversations is not easy for humans. No one “speaks dolphin” yet, but some scientists are trying to learn.

FACT 2: Let's Play

Dolphins are also social animals. They live in groups called Pods, and they often join others from different pods to play games and have fun—just like people. In fact, playing together is something only intelligent animals do.

FACT 3: Fishermen's Helpers

Dolphins and humans are similar in another way: both make plans to get something they want. In the seas of southern Brazil, for example, dolphins use an interesting strategy to get food. When fish are near a boat, dolphins signal<sup>1</sup> to the fishermen to put their nets in the water. Using this method, the men can catch a lot of fish. What is the advantage for the dolphins? Why do they assist the men? The dolphins get to eat some of the fish.

- ▲ Dolphins communicate using sounds and body language.
- ▼ Like humans, dolphins play games together.
