

Regions of United Kingdom and their characteristics

OFFICIALLY THERE ARE 11 REGIONS IN THE UNITED KINGDOM:

- ❑ 1) Greater London and the South-East Region;
- ❑ 2) South-West England;
- ❑ 3) East Anglia;
- ❑ 4) West Midlands;
- ❑ 5) East Midlands;
- ❑ 6) North-West England
- ❑ 7) Yorkshire and Hampshire;
- ❑ 8) Northern England;
- ❑ 9) Wales;
- ❑ 10) Scotland;
- ❑ 11) Northern Ireland.

East Anglia

East Anglia is a region in the east of England. Includes six ceremonial counties, as well as several unitary and municipal districts. The administrative center is Cambridge.

The largest city is Luton.

Scotland

Scotland is a country in the north of the island of Great Britain, which is part of the state of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Features of climate

EAST ANGLIA □ The climate of East Anglia is generally dry and mild. This region is the driest in the United Kingdom, with many areas receiving less than 600 mm of precipitation per year.

SCOTLAND □ Scotland has a humid temperate oceanic climate. It is much colder here than in more southern regions. Precipitation here is most intense in summer and autumn and is also unevenly distributed. Southwest winds often cause severe storms.

Location

EAST ANGLIA

- The East of England region is washed by the North Sea from the east, bordered in the southwest by the regions of South-East England and Greater London, and in the northwest it borders the East Midlands region.

SCOTLAND

- Scotland is a country in the north of the island of Great Britain, which is part of the state of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. It borders on land with England and is washed by the seas of the Atlantic Ocean: the North (in the east) and the Irish (in the west).

Industries

East Anglia

- ❑ Fishing;
- ❑ Agriculture;
- ❑ Shipbuilding;
- ❑ Oil industry.

Scotland

- ❑ Metalworking industry;
- ❑ Mechanical engineering;
- ❑ Chemical and textile enterprises;
- ❑ Coal mining;
- ❑ Fishing;
- ❑ Cattle breeding.

Major centres

East Anglia

- Administrative center: Cambridge;
- Major cities: Luton, Ipswich, Southend-on-Sea

Scotland

- Capital: Edinburgh;
- Major cities: Aberdeen, Dundee, Glasgow.

Cambridge

Luton

Ipswich

Southend-on-Sea

Edinburgh

Aberdeen

Dundee

Glasgow

