The Green Garden

There is only one short street in a small big town. The houses aren't tall and the street isn't wide. But the people aren't sad in this town. There are no trees and flowers in the street. The little children haven't got any place to play. They are sad and unhappy. Nobody can help them.

In spring Miss Chatter comes to visit the town. She sees the happy children in the street. She wants to help them. She says, "Dear children! Let's grow a nice green garden together!" Miss Chatter and the children dig the ground, put in the seeds, plant the trees and water the flowers. The weather becomes hot and windy. But they continue to work.

Autumn comes and the children play in the garden every day. They like the green apple trees, the nice flowers and the merry birds. In spring the nights are sunny and warm. Miss Chatter and the little children fly kites and play hide-and-seek. The people of the town like to have picnics in the garden. They say, "Thank you!" to Miss Chatter and the little children. Now all the people are happy in the town.
