

Anton Pavlovich Chekhov

29 January 1860-15 July 1904

«Childhood»

- Anton Pavlovich Chekhov Born 29 January 1860 in Taganrog, in a family of merchant(купца).
- He worked in his father's shop, learned the craft of a tailor ,sang in the choir and studied .
- King Nicholas II complained to Anton Pavlovich the title of hereditary nobleman , but he refused it.

«Youth and maturity»

- The Czechs almost five years as the "literary Negro", he wrote short stories for various magazines under the order without publication authorship.
- Sometimes we even had to write "jeans", but most often he has been commissioned to humorous stories.
- Was the myth that he was small , but in fact it was the growth of 1 meter 80 centimeters.
- Chekhov was very ill but kept cheerful , hiding it

«Interesting facts»

- The writer liked to collect stamps. He painstakingly adding to your collection, adding Souvenirs from countries in which visited. And this: Poland, France, Germany, Italy and all over Russia.
- Chekhov had a lot of fans. Himself Anton Pavlovich jokingly called them "Antonovka".
- Chekhov's favorite dog – Dachshund. Especially two, which gave him Nikolai Leykin and he called them: Brom Isaevich and Khina Markovna.

«Monument dogs Chekhov»

• Terrible love stories about themselves - another tradition, which has not changed Czechs. Interesting life facts, curiosities or the same dry biography he talked personally to those who asked him about it, or prefer to remain silent altogether. This modesty he explained a joke – it was said that he avtobiografiya. Especially when it comes to articles about them for magazines or Newspapers.

