

Endangered animals

Okapi, Loris and Proboscis dog.

Okapi

The main predator is the Leopard

Okapis have very long, flexible tongues, around 30 cm long

Situation of okapi

Okapis are not classified as endangered. But the biggest threats to the world's Okapi population are deforestation and poaching.

The Okapi Wildlife Reserve was created in 1992. The Reserve is managed by the Congolese Institute for Nature Conservation (ICCN) and Gillman International Conservation (GIC).

PROTECTING THE ENDANGERED OKAPI
AND ITS HABITAT

IN THE DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC OF CONGO

Proboscis dog

In the evening they hunt on insects.

Situation of proboscis dog

Organization IUCN brought proboscis dog in the red book and banned hunting them.

Loris

Situation of Loris

Loris has large eyes for the night-vision.

The Loris is hunted for sale as pets, for traditional medicine, and for photo with tourists. The level of commercial activity in its natural environment grows. People destroy its habitat.

Thank you for attention!

