

The most common type in Britain is a semi-detached house.

I believe that such houses attract people because they are less expensive than mansions or bungalows. Speaking about our country, I can say that nowadays there is no problem of choosing a type of housing. Everyone can find an affordable apartment to their liking. Some people would prefer a lovely cottage or a large farmhouse somewhere in the countryside

Advantages of the countryside

- One of the main benefits they get is having their own land which is at their disposal
- So, it's the best place to hide from the hectic city and recharge the batteries!

Disadvantages of the countryside

• But there are some minuses of this type of living as well. And the biggest one is that sometimes it takes much time to get to the nearest town or city

countryside

That's why most people prefer living in a block of flats.

Those who live alone usually prefer a studio to a large apartment. In a flat one has less privacy and is surrounded by neighbors from all the sides. And you never know what kind of neighbors you will have.

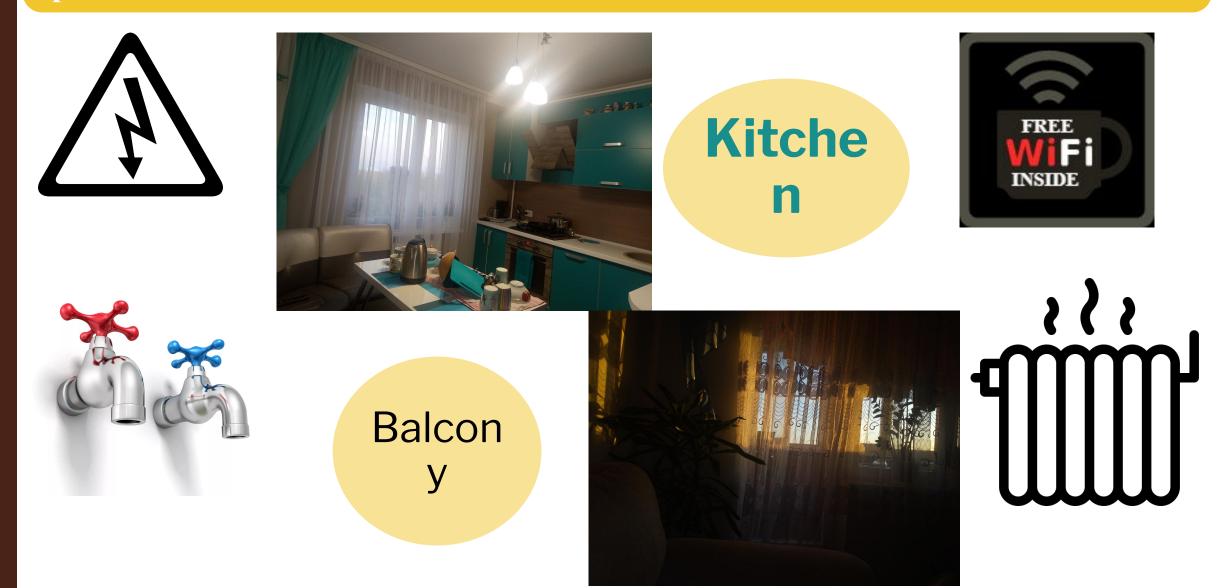

As for me, I live in a two-room flat on the eighth floor. In our hallway there is a wardrobe with a large mirror and a bedside table, on the wall-clock and family photos. In the living room there is a furniture wall with a TV, a huge sofa and a gym. In my room there is a huge bed, and near is worth cupboard with mirror. There is also a TV on the bedside table, a mirror on the wall.

Lounge

It has all the modern conveniences: central heating, electricity, running hot and cold water and access to the Internet. We also have a balcony with flowers. I think our apartment is comfortable and modern

To sum up, I would like to say that everyone is free to choose where live. But it is important to say that this is not a type of building, but people who create a special atmosphere if people treat it with caution both love.

