Miami occupies the territory between the tropical swamps of the Everglades area in the west and the Atlantic Ocean in the east. The city stands on the Miami River in the south-eastern part of the peninsula of the same name in Miami-Dade County. Miami with settlements around it forms a city agglomeration, estimated in 2008 in 5.4 million inhabitants. This is the 7th largest city metropolitan area (metropolitan area) in the US. The very city of Miami without neighborhoods is not that big. According to the data for 2000, 362 thousand people lived in the city itself. In 2013, the population of approximately 417 thousand inhabitants.
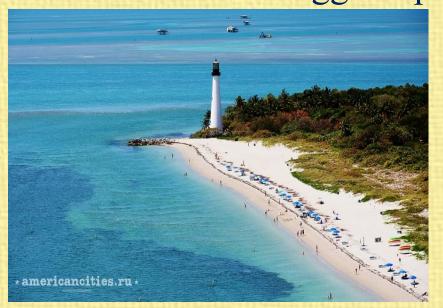

Miami attractions

New world Symphony

Concert Hall New World Center is located in the southern part of Miami Beach. The opening took place in January 2011, construction of the building cost $ 160 million. New World Center is designed by one of the most notable architects of our time - Frank Gehry. Among other creations of Frank Gehry: Walt Disney Concert Hall in Los Angeles, Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao, Seattle Music Museum. The capacity of the New World Center concert hall is 756 people. Relatively small capacity is compensated by convenience and excellent acoustics. The audience is as close to the orchestra as possible. The furthest place is located only on the 13th row. Performances can be accompanied by amazing video installations.

Bill Baggs Cape Florida State Park

Park Bill Bags Cape gives an opportunity to spend time in a picturesque place, walking or cycling. In the park grow tropical mangroves, in the shade of which you can hide from the Florida sun. The sandy beach has a length of more than 2 km and is regularly included in the top of the best beaches in the US. On the beach are allowed swimming and fishing. The landmark of the park is a lighthouse built in 1825. The lighthouse can be visited with an excursion.

Key Biscayne is the most southerly of the succession of islands along the Atlantic coast of Florida. Territorially, Key Biscayne is located south-east of Miami and south of South Beach. The park is open for visits daily.

The beaches of one of the best resorts of the Atlantic coast, extraordinarily clean and at the same time superbly equipped. Divers, surfers, yachtsmen and other amateurs of entertainment on the water, are quietly doing their favorite thing here, without disturbing anyone. For each sport, on the beaches of Miami there is a separate platform with water space, and sunbathers can luxuriate on warm sand and swim in the azure waters of the Atlantic, without fear that someone will knock them down or crush them. Therefore, America is considered one of the most advanced countries in the world, and Miami beaches are the best on the American coast. I think you can not wait to book a tour to Miami and lie on a luxurious beach in one of the fashionable hotels.

If you want to make an independent trip to Miami, you should definitely rent a car. Since the city is big and move around it better on wheels. Here, it is worth noting one more feature of the resort. The minimum number of traffic jams. With a rather large population density, the city authorities were able to solve the transport problem. Many people move around Miami on bicycles or on rollers, which removes some issues and allows to unload the main city highways.
