

REASONS FOR TRAVELLING

project by Alice Bugreewa

Travelling is the most well-known kind of activity among nowadays people. To my mind there is no way to travel without any purpose or reason.

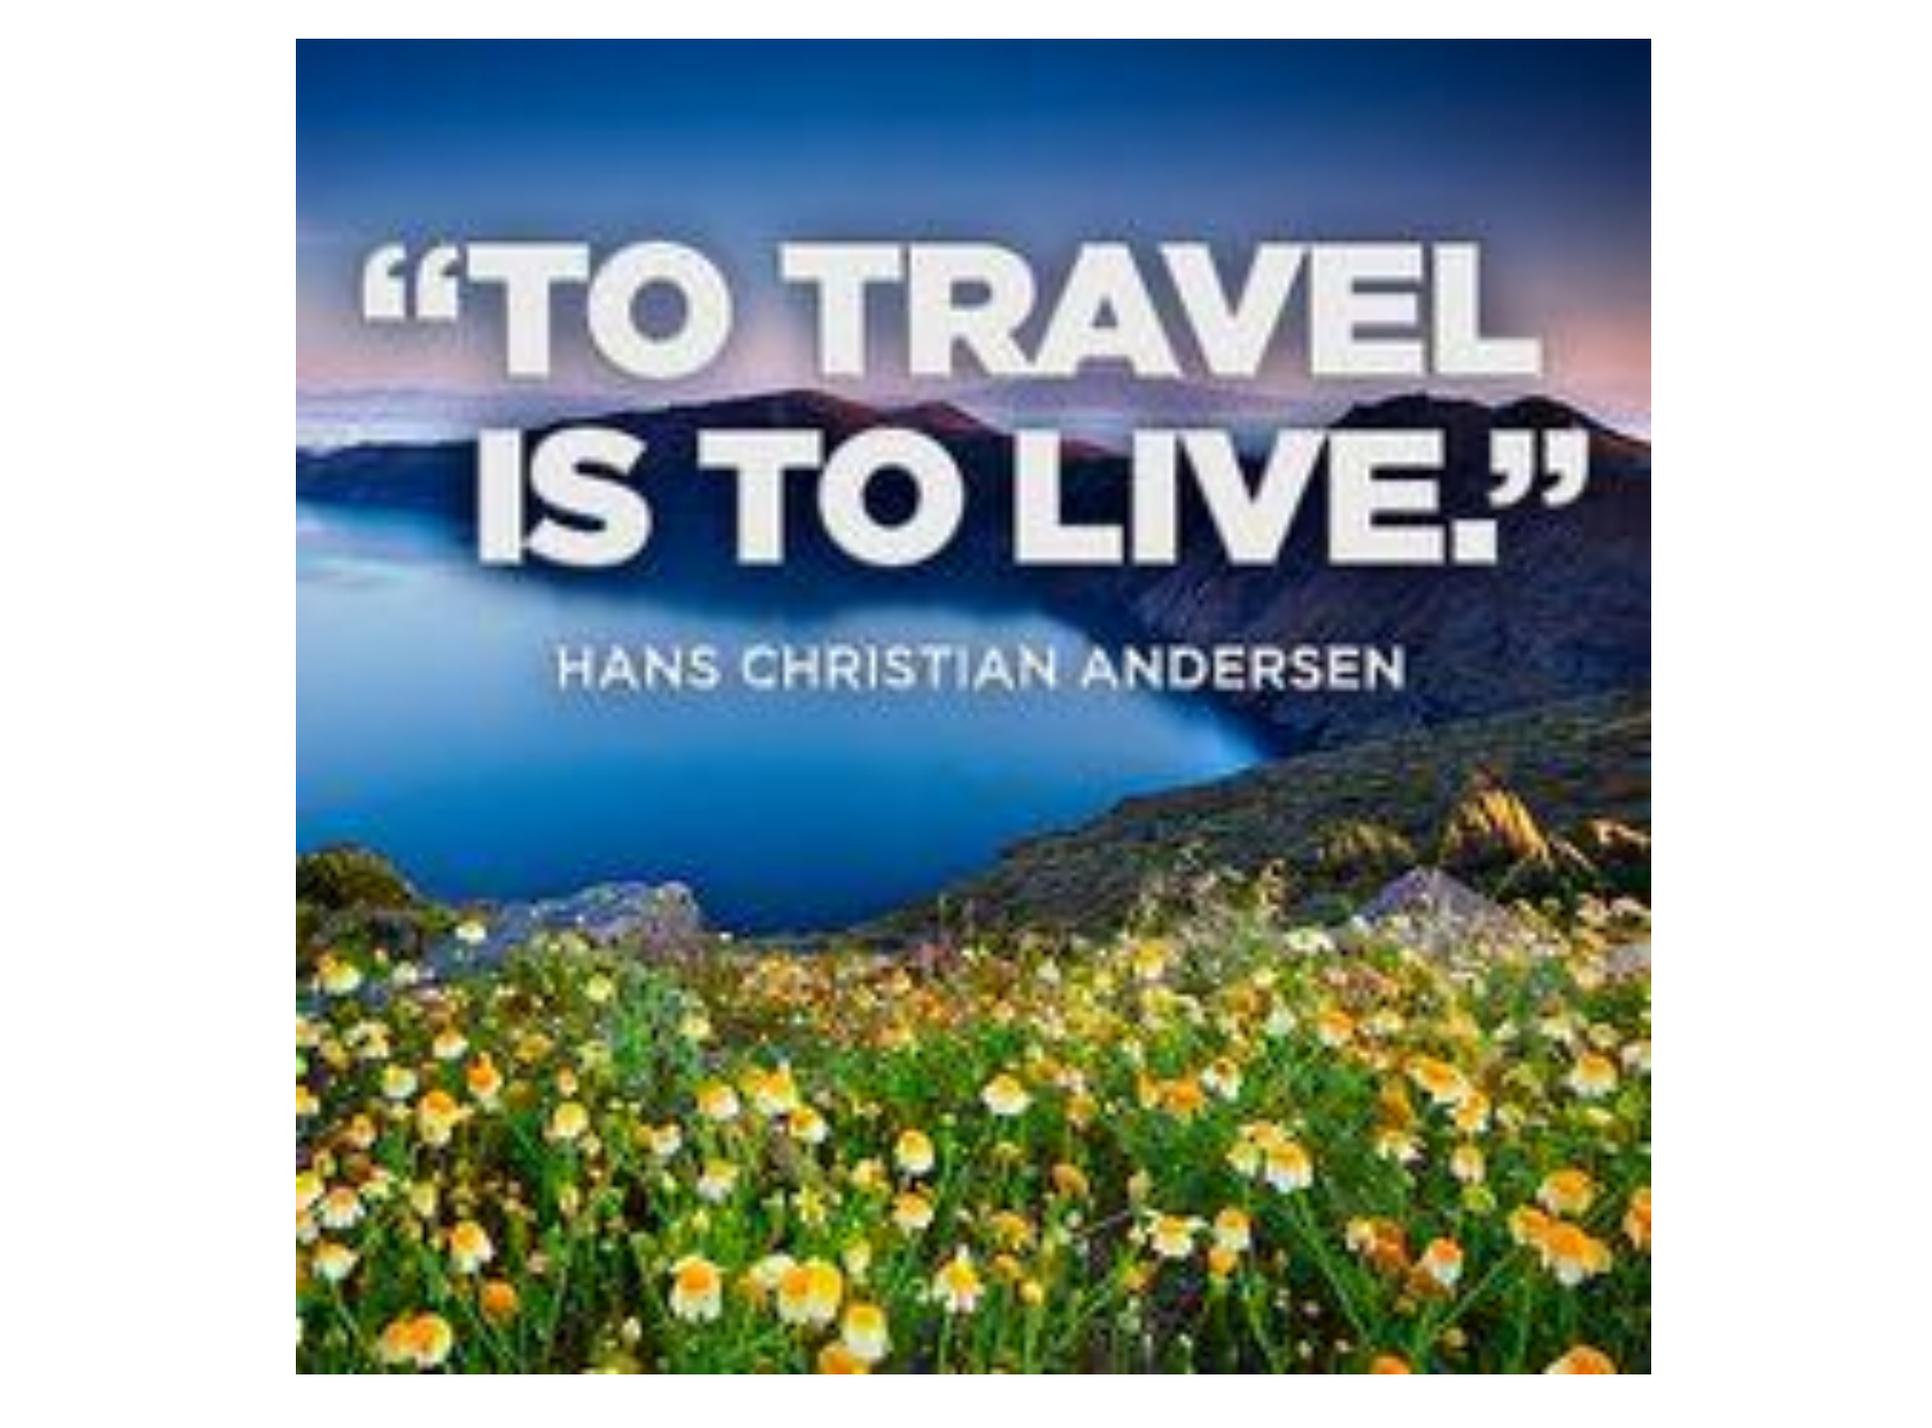

Boredom escaping

Our life might be boring, routine, monotonous and gray. Anyone could get sick and tired of it.

So, people take their days-off, pack their suit-cases, go to travel agencies and just fly away.

But after come back routine comes back too. And travelling every time you are getting bored is too expensive.

But rest and relaxation is a need.

A scenic landscape featuring a calm lake in the middle ground, surrounded by dark mountains. The foreground is filled with a vibrant field of yellow and white flowers. The sky is a deep blue, suggesting dusk or dawn. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image.

“TO TRAVEL IS TO LIVE.”

HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

To run away from broken heart

It's OK to have a broken heart. In my thinking everyone should have such experience at least once or twice in a lifetime.

So, you can't breathe the same air with person who broke your heart, you can't share the same city with him or her. All you want to do is just run away as far as you can.

Proverb "Out of sight-out of mind" suits for this situation perfectly.

Food

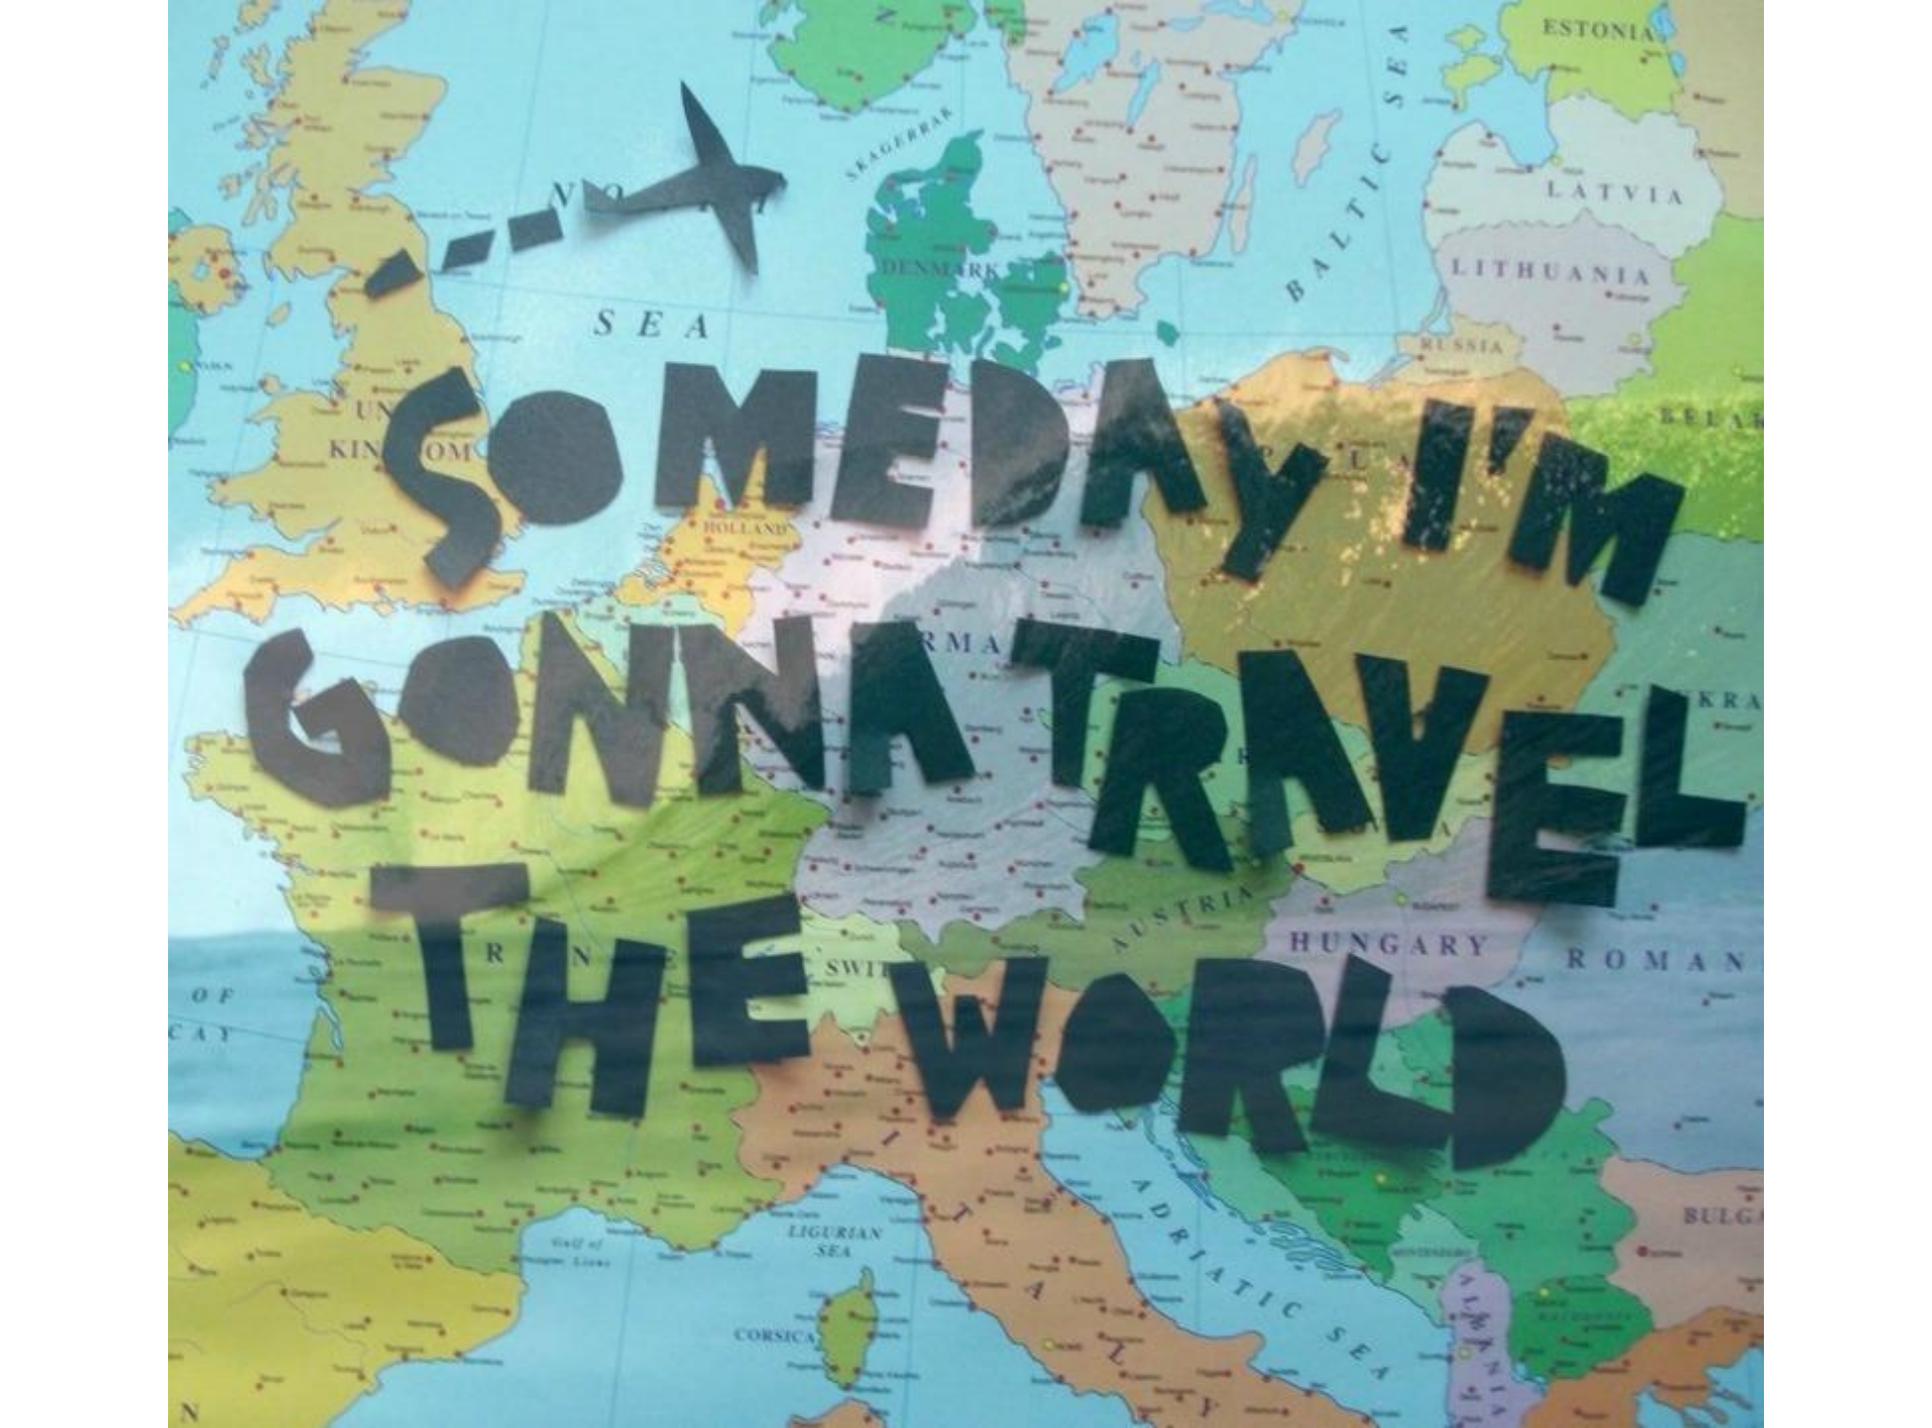

I think we can all agree that food is awesome and experiencing different cuisines can be a good reason for traveling. Food can simply make people want to go travel. Especially gourmets and those, who like cooking.

To broaden your experience of the world

It's a real reason for people who want to see the world, to see how do the other people live. Or even find a better place for themselves.

A map of Europe is shown with a paper airplane flying from the UK towards the continent. Large, dark, 3D block letters are placed over the map, reading "SOME DAY I'M GONNA TRAVEL THE WORLD".

SOME DAY I'M GONNA TRAVEL
THE WORLD

To learn languages

Native speakers, alive, real speech everywhere- in shops, buses, stations and streets is a helpful way to improve one's language and conversation skills.

To live out your dreams

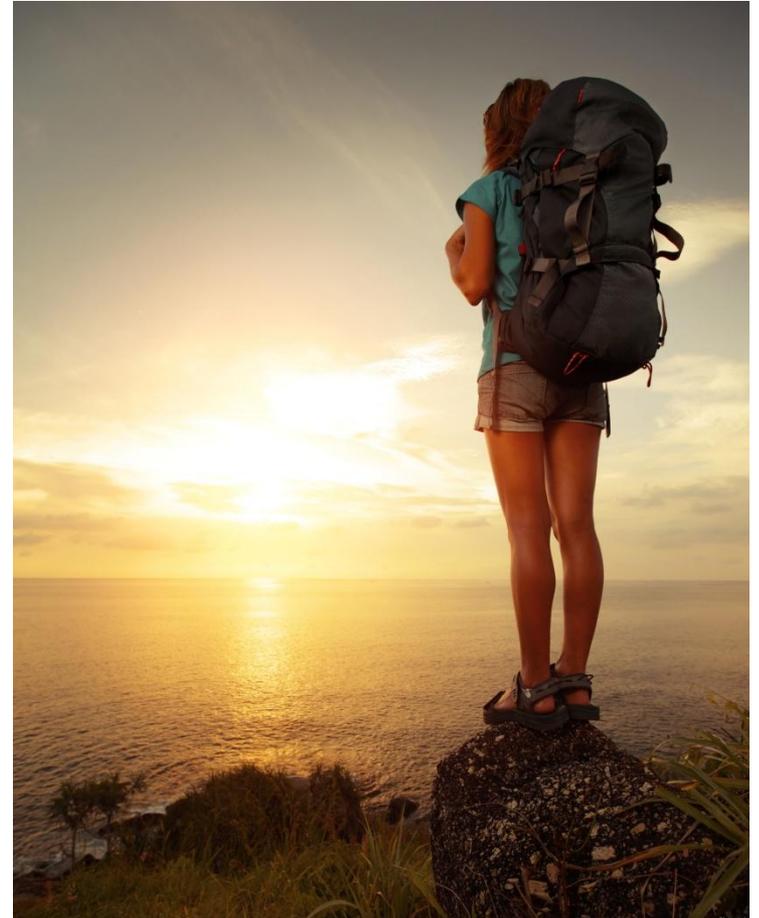

It's difficult to find someone, who don't want to go somewhere. Someone, who just wants to stay in his hometown forever.

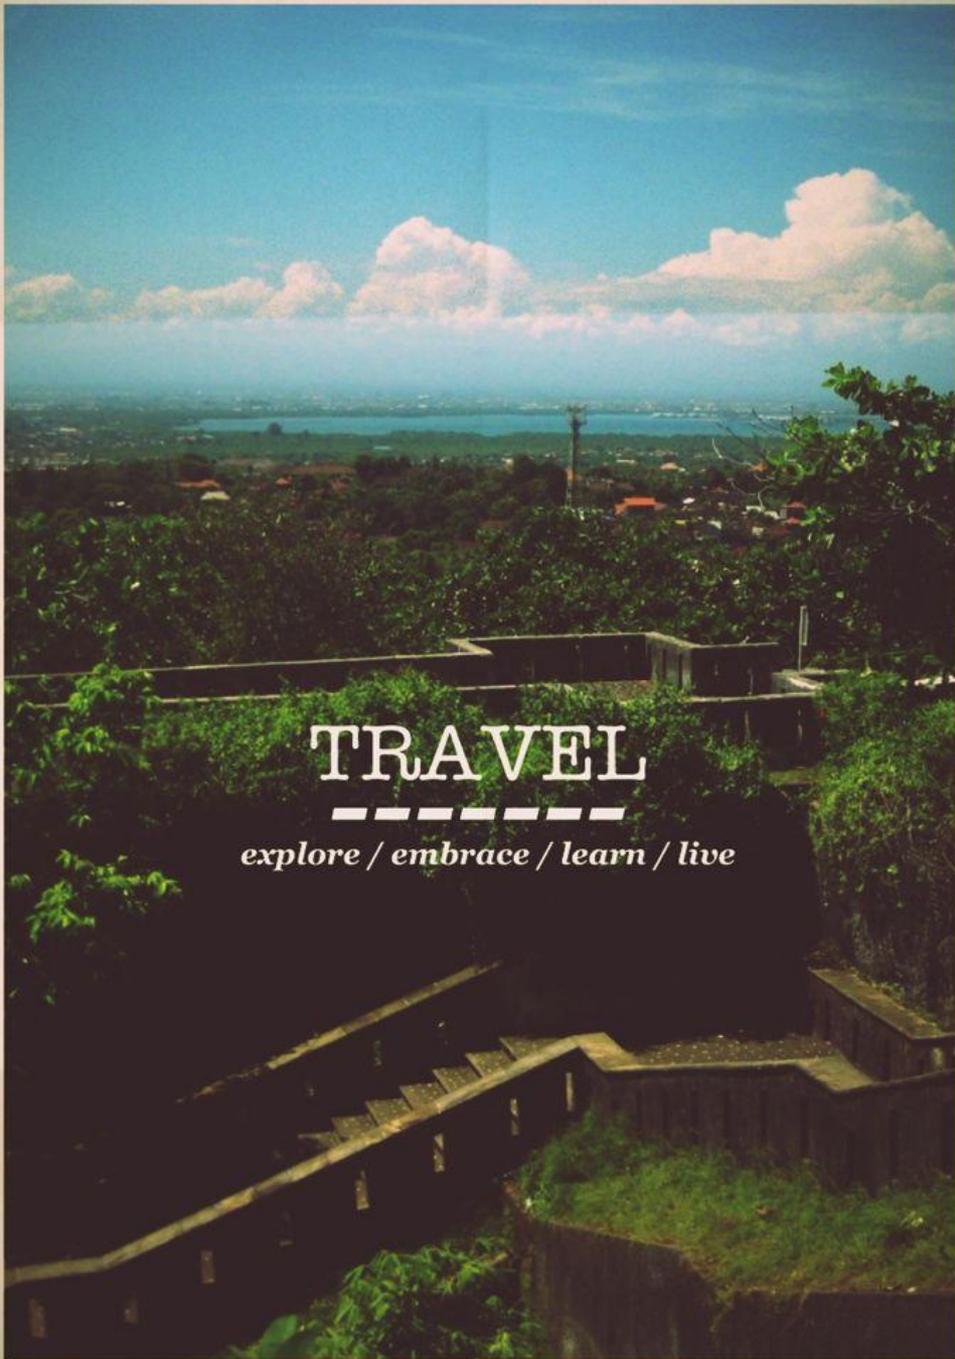

We are all explorers. Our planet is so huge.

There are so many nationalities and countries. It's amazing if you have some cherish dreams to come true.

To visit historical sights

It's OK if you want to know more about culture, history and traditions of some country. There are special historical routes, which include visiting religious monuments, buildings, places. Also there are a huge amount of appealing waterfalls, divine gardens and exquisite stairs and abandonments.

TRAVEL

explore / embrace / learn / live

To spend some time in solitude

Some of the best and the most important things that travel will teach you are knowing more about yourself and finding the real you. People travel also to reflect on themselves, their lives and also to seek happiness. Many travel because they are recovering from a recently ended relationship, a death of a relative or have just gotten out of school, they use travel to find direction again in their lives and to understand their purpose of existence. Traveling helps people simply to escape and let them see themselves in a different way until they figure out how they want their lives to go.

SOLO TRAVEL
DOES NOT MEAN TRAVELING ALONE

Thanks for your attention