

An Ideal Welfare State

State must ensure people are not able to work. care of the state are payments that are paid categories different people. Payments are:

- old age pension,
- maternity benefit,
- child benefit,
- unemployment benefit
- and pension invalid.

But today many people do not get those benefits that should be receiving.

For good reason:

- - At first people did not know that they should receive benefits;
- - Secondly people do not know what to do in order to receive payment;
- - And thirdly, people can not get their benefit is achieved, which put them under the law.

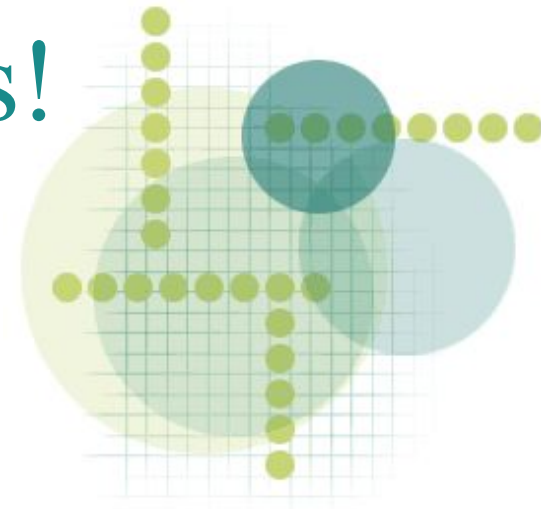

If we want the welfare state was an ideal, state should take care about the integrity of distribution of benefits and payments, to teach people to enjoy their rights.

Of course the state can not only deal with this issue, but there are social workers, which should help people in matters of this kind. But that social services work properly, they need highly of qualified workers, which should be about learning to take care of the state.

As for the medical care that the state should provide free medical necessary instruments and medical staff to do the work more comfortable and choose for the people who will serve the work, not the bosses!

It is my ideal welfare state!
