Should and Must

Subtitle here

We use have to / must / should + infinitive to talk about obligation, things that are necessary to do, or to give advice about things that are a good idea to do.

Must and have to are both used for obligation and are often quite similar. They are both followed by the infinitive.

I must go now. / I have to go now.

Sophie

Are these exactly the same?

Well, almost. We often use must for more personal opinions about what it is necessary to do, and have to for what somebody in authority has said it is necessary to do.

I must remember to get a present for Daisy. (my opinion)

You have to look after their hair regularly. (dog experts say so)

Do you have to wear a tie for school? (asking about school rules)

Jun

- We use should for advice, or making suggestions, and must for strong advice.
- You must go for a walk with the dog at least once a day.
Maybe you should go for a coffee or lunch and see how you feel?
You shouldn't leave it on the street.
