

Dream Job

How I imagine an ideal job?

- If you have a well paid job, you can consider that you have a good job, but an ideal job has a lot of good things.
- Any ideal job is destination and self-realization of man. This work implements his ability, satisfies the requirements, fulfills a wish and meets the rhythm of life.

- An ideal job just fits into the personal characteristics of a person. It enables a person to be in place and do the job.
 - There are two ways to have an ideal job: The first it's when you work and try to get promotion. The second it's just work which you like and which completely satisfies you.

This is the job of my dream.

- It leaves enough time for family, recreation, self-development and is paid adequately.
- This job is with the change of activity: with a certain balance of mental and physical activity, favorable to health and the environment.
- It stores, enhances and promotes spiritual, personal and professional growth.
- An ideal job allows me to communicate with people and brings social benefits.
- It is reliable, constant and brings the pleasure of the process and the outcome.

My ideal work is the work which gives a pleasure.

- I would describe the ideal job as a job that makes the most of my qualifications and abilities, and gives me a chance to constantly challenge myself. I look for a stable job with quality supervision, a positive work culture at a successful company that will encourage me to work at my best
