

Political system of Great Britain

Sovereign

Prime Minister

Home Government
Foreign Office
Office

Treasu ry

Parlia

ment
House of Common s House
of Lords

The role of Parliament

The main functions are:

- To pass laws regulating the life of
- To scrutinize government policy and

Bill House Law

Bill

House
of Commons

House
of Lords

Royal Assent

Law

The Queen

- Elizabeth II (born 1926; crowned on 2nd June 1953)
- “Elizabeth the Second, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and of Her other Realms and Territories Queen,

The Queen's authority:

- She performs certain important acts of government
- She is the centre of much of the nation's ceremonial
- The leader of society
- She visits many parts of the UK each year to encourage scientific, industrial, artistic and charitable works of national importance
- Paying state visits to foreign countries
- She receives the laws
- She is the Head of the Church of England

God save
the Queen

.... Divorced

Queen Elizabeth II Philip,
Duke of Edinburgh

Charles;
Prince of Wales

Anne,
Princess Royal

Andrew,
Duke of York

Edward,
Earl of Wessex

Diana,
Princess of Wales

Camilla,
Duchess of Cornwall

Captain Mark
Phillips

Vice-Admiral
Timothy Laurence

Sarah, Duchess
of York

Sophie, Countess of Wessex

William Duke of Cambridge

Harry Prince Henry of Wales

Peter
Phillips

Zara
Tindall

Princess Beatrice
of York

Princess
Eugenie
of York

Louise
Lady Louise-Windsor

James,
Viscount
Severn

Kate Duchess of Cambridge

Autumn
Phillips

Mike
Tindall

Prince George of Cambridge

?

Savannah

Isla

Mia Grace

The house of Commons

- The lower house of the Parliament, co

523 for England
38 for Wales
72 for Scotland
17 for Northern Ireland

Role:

- To make laws of the land by passing various Acts, as well as to discuss current political issues.
- The House sits for five days each week.
- The strength of the House of Commons is that it possesses the right to argue

The house of Lords

- Consists of over 1,000

1. All peers and peeresses who have inherited their titles
2. Certain clergy of the Church of England
3. Some judges (called “the Law Lords”)

Role:

- Pass Bills sent to it from the House of Commons
- Amend Bills and send them back to the Commons for approval
- Delay Bills for a limited time
- Start its own Bills, but it must send them to the

Parliamentary Debates

Parliament is a place where politicians can speak about public matters, express points of view, argue, try to persuade, support and oppose other members.

British Government

- A body of ministers who are responsible for the administration of the country affairs

The Prime

Minister

- The leader of the party with a majority, is appointed by the Queen.
- All other Ministers are appointed by the Queen on the recommendation of the Prime Minister

The Cabinet

The most senior Ministers (usually 20) compose the Cabinet, which meets once or twice a week under the chairmanship of the government

- ✓ The people elect MPs
- ✓ After an election a Government is formed
- ✓ Prime Minister is appointed by the Queen
- ✓ The Prime Minister selects his Ministers
- ✓ The Ministers form the Cabinet
- ✓ The Cabinet decides Government policies
- ✓ The Parliament agrees to support or rejects Government policies and laws

The Political Party System

- Conservative party

Conservatives

The Political Party System

- Labour Party

new Labour
new Britain

LABOUR PARTY

The Political Party System

- Liberal Democrats

Join the campaign to keep
BRITAIN in Europe

Elections

- Men and women over 18 years have a vote
 - Voting is not compulsory
 - A candidate is elected if he/she has a majority of votes over the next candidate
- ✓ British may stand and be elected as MPs if they are aged 21 and >

Even moderate Labour voters fear Miliband would be reckless, spending much more than the UK can afford to. And that a Miliband government would be unlikely to resist the temptation of interfering in the free market, scaring away

Cameron's coalition has got the economy out of recession and growing again, with an increase in consumption and high employment. But deficit is high, and real incomes have

Thank you for your attention !