 - tropes (the lexical level),
 - figures of speech (the syntactical level).
- functional styles as separate systems,
- the individual manner of the author these units and their interaction in a text

stylistically marked units word is a like a drop of paint added to a glass of the whole of it”*

Когда же чёрт возьмёт тебя?»

TYPES OF MANY-LINE POEMS BY CONTENT

- Odes are elaborate lyrical poems addressed to a person, a thing or an abstraction (like love) able to transcend the problems of life.

There was a time when meadow, grove, and stream,
The earth, and every common sight,
To me did seem Apparelled in celestial light,
The glory and the freshness of a dream.
It is not now as it hath been of yore;—
Turn wheresoe'er I may,
By night or day,
The things which I have seen I now can see no more.

Intimations of Immortality, by W. Wordsworth (1800)

TYPES OF MANY-LINE POEMS BY CONTENT

- Epigram: a brief, catching, often surprising or satirical poem dealing with a single thought, person or event and often ending with a witty turn of thought

Little strokes

Fell great oaks.

Benjamin Franklin

Полу-милорд, полу-купец, Полу-мудрец, полу-невежда, Полу-подлец, но есть надежда, Что будет полным наконец.

А. С. Пушкин. На М. С. Воронцова.

- In this world there are only two tragedies. One is not getting what one wants, and the other is getting it – Oscar Wilde
- Mankind must put an end to war, or war will put an end to mankind – John F. Kennedy
- An eye for an eye leaves the whole world blind – Mohandas Gandhi

UNRHYMED VERSE

- Blank verse is often used for long narrative poems or lyric poems in which a poet expresses his contemplation.
- 10 syllables with 5 stresses (an iambic pattern).

Birches

When I see birches bend to left and right Across the lines of straighter darker trees,
I like to think some boy's been swinging them.
But swinging doesn't bend them down to stay
As ice-storms do. Often you must have seen them Loaded with ice a sunny winter morning
After a rain. They click upon themselves
As the breeze rises, and turn many-colored
As the stir cracks and crazes their enamel.

Robert Frost

- Free verse – it is written in irregular lines and has no regular metre or rhyme.

- A child said, What is the grass? fetching it to me with full hands;
How could I answer the child? I do not know what it is any more than he.

I guess it must be the flag of my disposition, out of hopeful
green stuff woven.

- Walt Whitman

- Concrete poetry is visual poetry. A concrete poem creates an actual picture or shape on the page.

A Christmas Tree
Star,
If you are A love Compassionate,
You will walk with us this year.
We face a glacial distance, who are here
Huddl'd
At your feet.

William Burford

Dusk Above the water hang the loud flies
 here
 O so gray then
What A pale signal will appear When Soon before its shadow fades Where Here in this pool of opened eye In us No upon us As at the very edges of where we take shape in the dark air this object bares its image awakening ripples of recognition that will brush darkness up into light even after this bird this hour both drift by atop the perfect sad instant now already passing out of sight toward yet-untroubled reflection this image bears its object darkening into memorial shades Scattered bits of light No of water Or something across water Breaking up No Being regathered soon Yet by then a swan will have gone Yes out of mind into what vast pale hush of a place past sudden dark as if a swan sang

Breath it less gently forth — and veil thine eyes.

To cure his love — was cured of all beside —
His follie — pride — and passion — for he died.
