- Different types of food contain different nutrients for our body. Some supply us with carbohydrates, some with proteins or fats, some with vitamins and minerals, etc. Many people think that fat is bad for people and they try to cut down on it. There is even a special line of products, called low-fat. The problem is that we do need some kinds of fat, but the saturated fats from animal products, like red meat, butter and cheese, can be really bad for health. Friendly fats can be found in avocados, nuts and seeds, olives and tuna fish, and in some other products.

- Many people think that healthy food is a long time, but it's not. Healthy food is also can be cooked fast. For example, it takes about fifteen minutes to cook buckwheat with fresh vegetables. You spend so little time to cook it but your organism gets so many vitamins. You also can cook a healthy sandwich using vegetables and whole-wheat bread.
