Honeymoon

- You like absolutely everything

- You feel special
- You are ready to explore and learn as much as possible
- It's great to be here!!!

*(to be continued...LOL)*

HOMESICK

Rejection

- They speak Russian here, EVERYWHERE!!!
- Food is not what I used to eat back home
- NO family, friends or even familiar faces
- I feel tired, ALWAYS.
- Inability to solve even little problems
- Avoiding others, unwilling to interact, being angry or irritable

ACCEPTANCE

is seeing with your heart, not with your eyes.

You are able to cope with reality

You stay focused on the main goal of your trip

You realize life is different but not strange any more

Adaptation

- You feel at home here
- Everything in this country makes sense now
- You realize you would like to spend here more time or to come back

Reversed Cultural Shock

All of the above experienced upon coming back home

There are two ways you can tell when a man is lying. One is when he says he can drink champagne all night and not get drunk. The other is when he says he understands Russians.

Charles E. Bohlen, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow

Russians and Americans

You Russians and we Americans! Our countries so distant, so unlike at first glance – such a difference in social and political conditions, and our respective methods of moral and practical development the last hundred years; - and yet in certain features, and vastest ones, so resembling each other.

Walt Whitman, Letter to a Russian
