THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

The English language contains about 490,000 words, plus another 300,000 technical terms, the most in any language, but it is doubtful if any individual uses more than 60,000.

You must know that...

- A native English speaking person knows between 10,000 (uneducated) to 20,000 (educated) word families.
- Professor Paul Nation found that a person needs to know 8,000-9,000 word families to enjoy reading a book.
- Studying heritage language learners reveal that a person with a vocabulary size of $\mathbf{2 , 5 0 0}$ passive word-families and 2,000 active word-families can speak a language fluently.

GOOD NEWS

If your goal is to speak English fluently, you are not required to study 10,000 words.
2,000 is enough to get you started.

Did you know?

- THERE ARE OVER 470 IRREGULAR VERBS IN ENGLISH. THE TURKISH LANGUAGE HAS ONLY ONE IRREGULAR VERB "OLMAK" ('TO BE')
- English is an international language. It has so many grammar rules and each rule with many exceptions. Out of 25 English language speakers not a single one uses correct form of $3^{\text {rd }}$ conditional.

CRAZY ENGLISH

- Let's face it - English is a crazy language. There is no egg in eggplant, nor ham in hamburger; neither apple nor pine in pineapple. English muffins weren't invented in England or French fries in France. Sweetmeats are candies while sweetbreads, which aren't sweet, are meat.
- We take English for granted. But if we explore its oxymorons, we find that quicksand can work slowly, boxing rings are square and a guinea pig is neither from Guinea nor is it a pig. And why is it that writers write but fingers don't fing, grocers don't groce and hammers don't ham?
- If the plural of tooth is teeth, why isn't the plural of booth beeth?
- One goose, 2 geese. So one moose, 2 meese? One index, 2 indices?
- Doesn't it seem crazy that you can make amends but not one amend, that you comb through annals of history but not a single annal? If you have a bunch of odds and ends and get rid of all but one of them, what do you call it?
- If teachers taught, why didn't preachers praught? If a vegetarian eats vegetables, what does a humanitarian eat?
