Save it before it's too late

A leopard is shown in a forest, holding a large, freshly cut log segment in its mouth. The log has a thick layer of bright red blood on its top surface, which is dripping down. The leopard's head is tilted back, and its mouth is open, showing the log. The background is a dense, green forest with many trees and vines.

Another example of a negative effect cause by deforestation is many species are killed
