

Walt Disney

Walt Disney: biography

Walt Disney

Date of birth: December 5, 1901.

Age: 65 years

Date of death: December 15, 1966.

Birthplace: Chicago, USA

Activity: animator, film director, screenwriter, producer

Walt Disney is the American animator and the film director, the founder of Walt Disney Productions studio which at the moment turned into the powerful multimedia empire of "The Walt Disney Company". Disney is the first author of sound animated films. For the career he shot more than 100 films for which he 26 times won a figurine the Oscar and also was an owner of several tens other prestigious film awards.

Animated films

The first author's character who was created by Disney was the rabbit Oswald about whom animated film appeared in 1927 and became very popular. And the legendary little mouse appeared in a year in the movie "Mad Airplane", and at first he was called Mortimer.

Later success was supported with other feature animation films - Pinocchio, Dambo, "Bambi", "Cinderella", "101 dalmatians" and many others. The story about Mowgli "the Book of the Jungle" became the last animated cartoon which left during lifetime of Walt Disney. After his death other artists ended the movie "Cats aristocrats".

Disneyland

Once Walt Disney thought of creation of the special place for children where they could have a good time and spend time together with parents in an environment of favourite animated characters.

In 1953 he at last persuaded to sell 17 families to him the land and in 50 kilometers from Los Angeles . Opening of the park took place in two years and now it is world famous as Disneyland.

Filmography

1922-1927 — "Alice's Adventures"
1927 — "The Rabbit Oswald"
1928 — "Parokhodik Willie"
1937 — "The Snow White and seven gnomes"
1940 — Pinocchio
1940 — "Imagination"
1941 — Dambo
1942 — "Bambi"
1950 — "Cinderella"
1951 — "Alice in Wonderland"
1953 — Peter Pan
1959 — "Sleeping Beauty"
1961 — "Hundred one dalmatians"
1963 — "A sword in a stone"
1966 — "The book of the jungle"

