

Hello!

My name is Fluffy and I absolutely love food!
So my friends and me want to tell you something about it.

When we cook, we

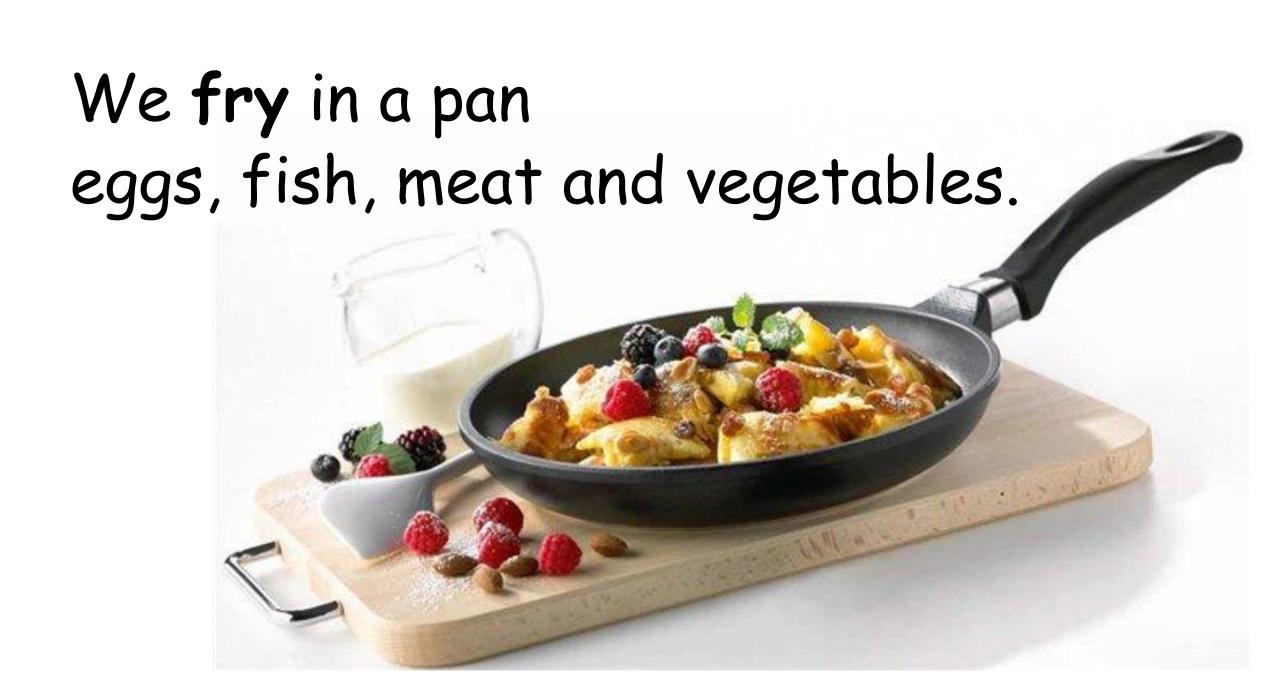

- ·boil,
- ·roast,
- •fry or stew our food.

How do you think what verbs in bold mean?

We boil in a cooking pot eggs, meat, chicken, fish, milk, water and vegetables.

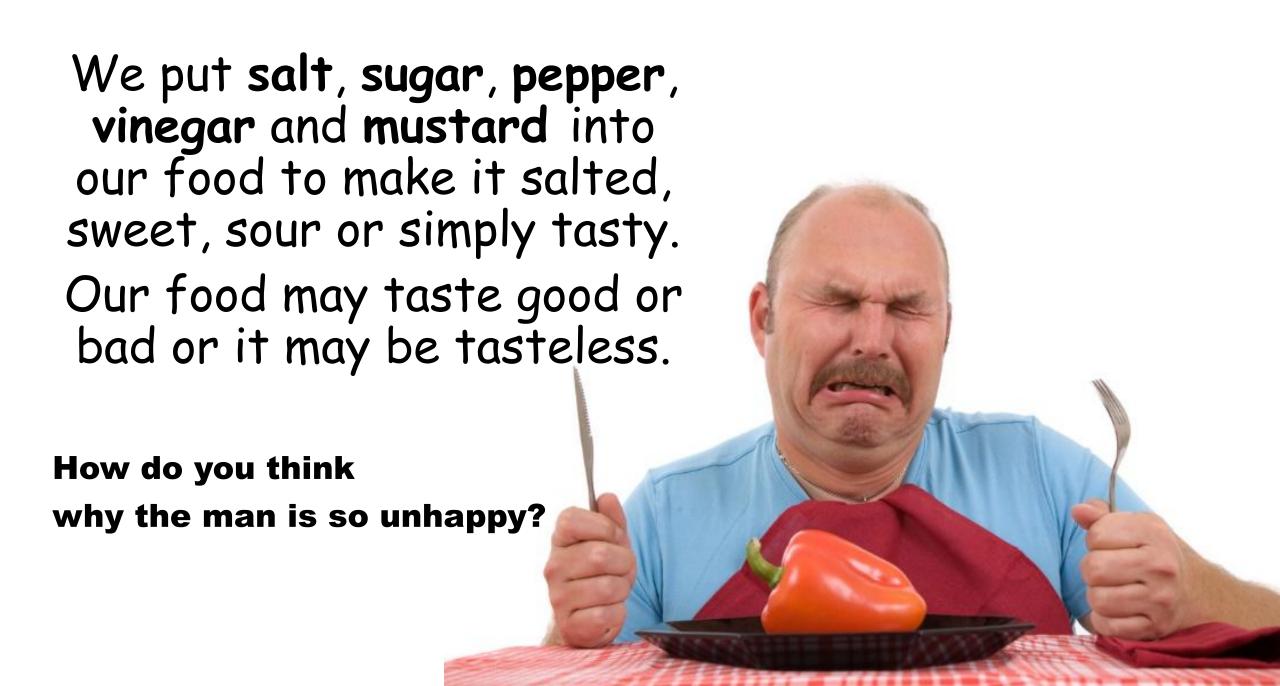

We roast meat or chicken.

To make tea To make coffee

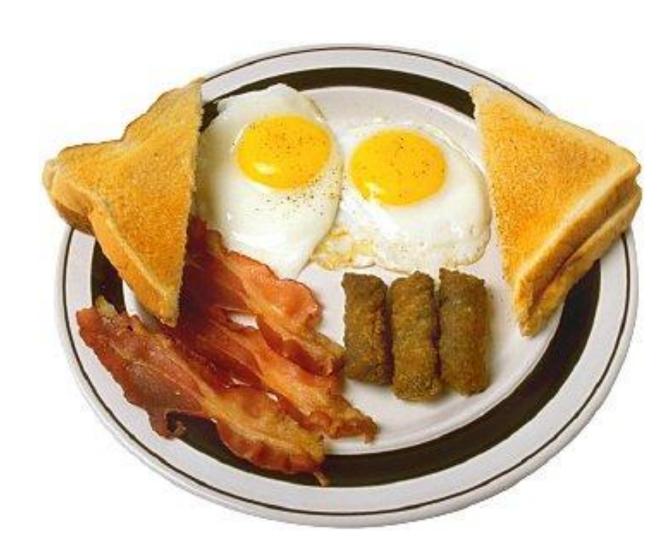

English breakfast

The usual meals in England are breakfast, lunch, tea and dinner.

For breakfast English people mostly have porridge or corn-flakes with milk or cream and sugar, bacon and eggs, marmalade with buttered toast and tea or coffee.

For a change they can have a boiled egg, cold ham, or fish.

English lunch

English people generally have lunch about one o'clock.

At lunch time in a London restaurant one usually finds a mutton chop, or steak and chips, or cold meat or fish with potatoes and salad, then a pudding or fruit to follow.

Tea traditions

Afternoon tea can hardly be called a meal.

It is a substantial meal only in well-to-do families.

It is between five and six o'clock. It is rather a sociable sort of thing, as friends often come in then for a chat while they have their cup of tea, cake or biscuit.

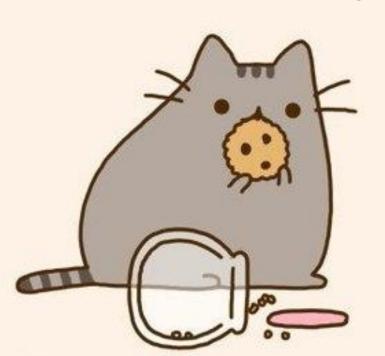

English dinner

In some houses dinner is the biggest meal of the day.

But in great many English homes, the midday meal is the chief one of the day, and in the evening there is usually a much simpler supper — an omelette, or sausages, sometimes bacon and eggs and sometimes just bread and cheese, a cup of coffee or cocoa and fruit.

- 1. What do people in your country eat for breakfast, lunch and dinner?
- 2. Are national food traditions in your country similar to English tradition? (common and distinctive features).
- 3. Write about food traditions in your country/family/any other country.

- A spoon ложка
- A fork вилка
- A knife нож
- A dish блюдо/тарелка
- A plate тарелка
- A table стол
- A chair стул/кресло
- A glass стакан

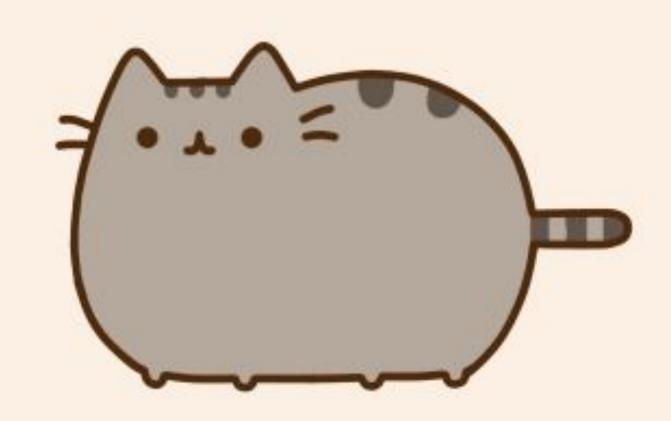

Devonshire Honey Cake

- 1. Is it look tasty?
- 2. Have you ever tried Devonshire honey cake or something like that?
- 3. Do you want to try it or cook eat yourself?
- 4. In which country do people eat Devonshire honey cake

Hil I'm glad too see you again! And today I want to tell you how to cook my favorite dish!

Breakfast Pepperoni Pizza

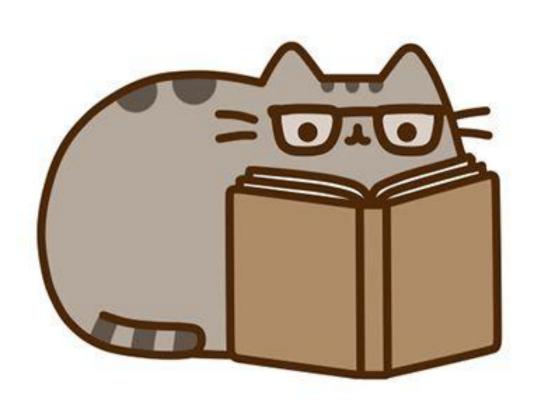

Chopped - нарубленный; a crust - корочка; shredded cheese тертый сыр; slices penneroni - острас slices pepperoni - острая копченая колбаса пеперони;

a baking sheet - лист для выпечки.

Ingredients

2 eggs 1 green onion, chopped 2 teaspoons water 1 teaspoon butter 1 prebaked mini pizza crust 1/3 cup shredded cheese 1/4 cup pizza sauce 12 slices pepperoni

Method

- 1. In a small bowl, beat the eggs, onion and water. In a small pan, heat butter until it's hot. Add egg mixture; cook and stir over medium heat.
- 2. Place the crust on a baking sheet. Add about 2 tablespoons cheese and about 2 tablespoons pizza sauce. Then put egg mixture. Add pepperoni on over the top.

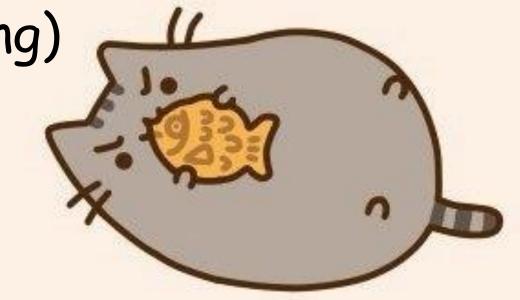

Bake about 10-12 minutes.

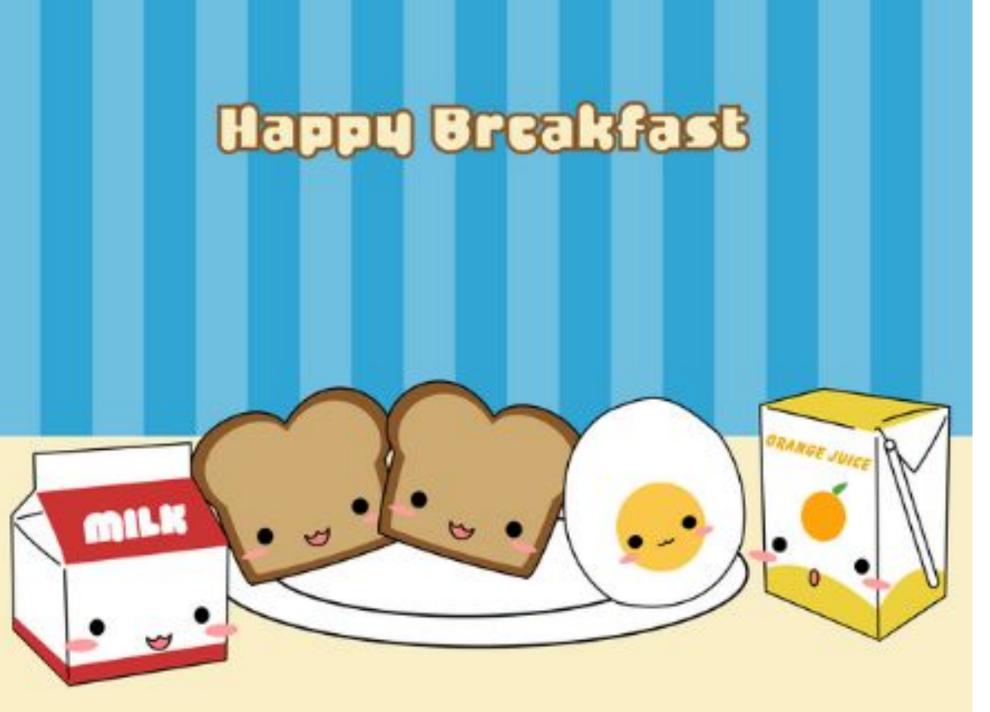

Let it stand for 5 minutes before serving.

Write the recipe of your favorite dish using next instructions:

- 1. Name of dish
- 2. Ingredients
- 3. Number of persons (serving)
- 4. Total time cooking
- 5. Method.
- 6. Use Imperative Mood.

Breakfast

- *What is breakfast?
- *Why is breakfast important?
- *Some breakfast ideas
- *Brain food
- *What some children say

What is breakfast?

The word breakfast is really two words, 'break' and 'fast'.

'Fast' is when you don't eat food all nigh, because you are sleeping.

So, breakfast is when you break your fast by eating.

Your stomach will be very happy about it and your body will be able to use the food to get the energy to send you off to school!

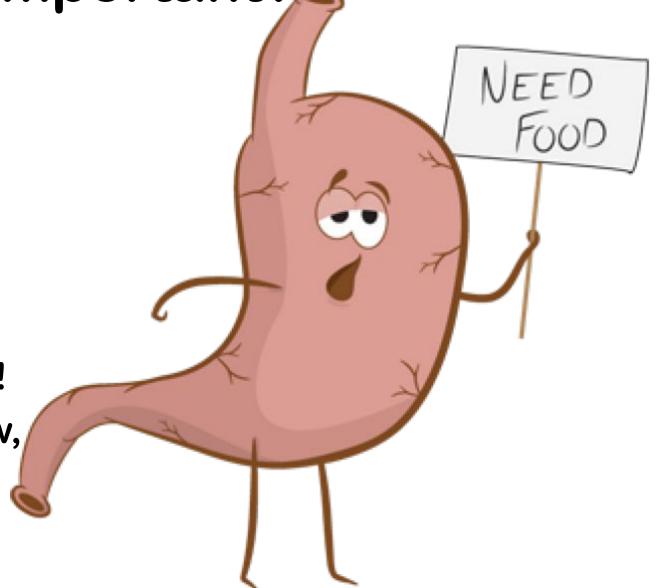

Why is breakfast important?

What you eat is turned into energy by your body.

If you don't eat when you get up, your energy is low, you can't think or work well and your stomach is letting you know that it is waiting for food!

When your energy level are low, you can't think about school lessons (Maths or English).

Some breakfast ideas

Who makes breakfast in your house? Mum, Dad, older brothers or sisters, or do you do it yourself? Anyway, it is important to drink and to eat something in the morning.

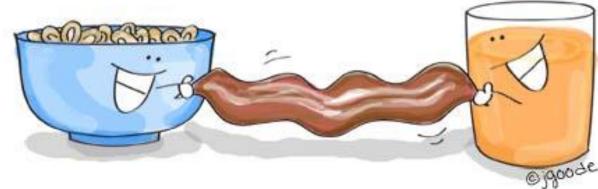

*Toasts, porridge and eggs will give you energy for school activities.

*Milk and other milk products are good for growing bodies and healthy bones.

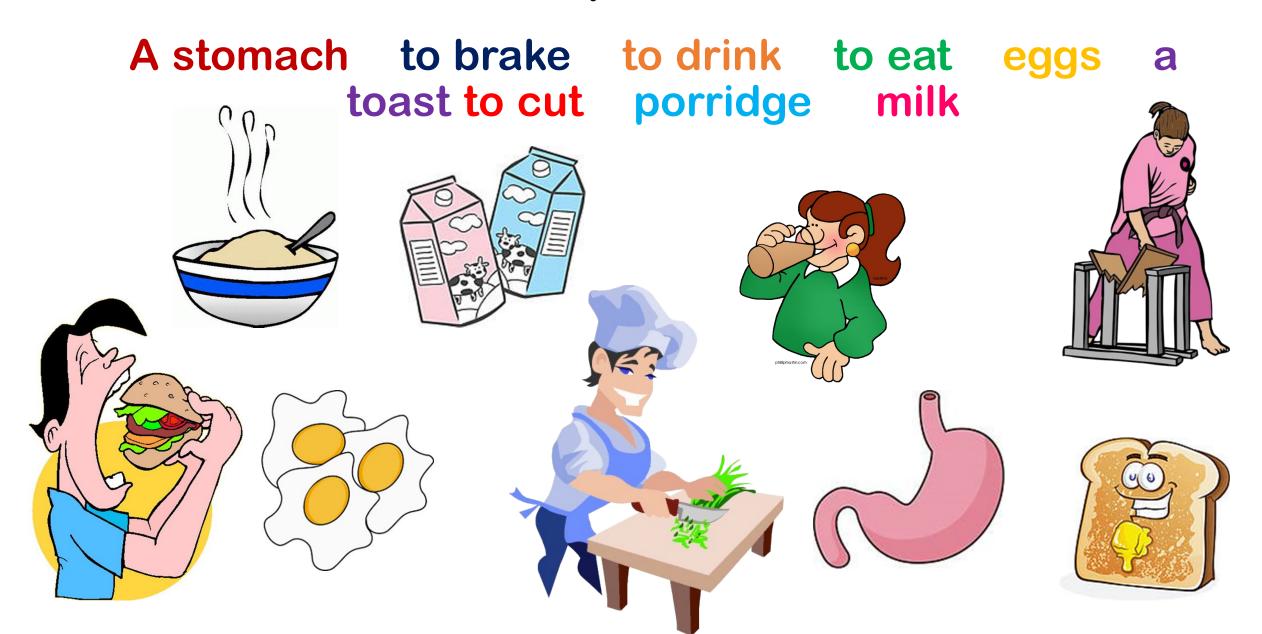

*Using a blender to blend fruit and milk into a smoothie can give you a quick, easy meal with lots of goodness.

*Cut up fresh fruit and eat it with yoghurt, and a piece of toast.

Match the words with pictures below

Make list of food which you eat for breakfast using next words and phrases:

Usually / sometimes / always/ seldom/ never(

I eat/drink

I like

I don't like

Some kids just cannot eat before they get to school.

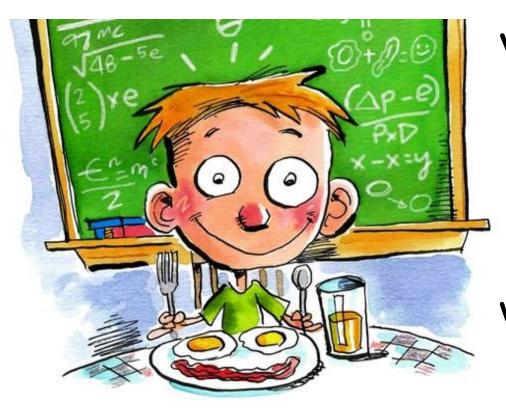

There can be lots of reasons, so some schools have a breakfast program where you can get something from the canteen before school.

Some schools have a 'Brain food' program where each class takes a break after a lesson to eat something. During this break kids eat healthy food such as nuts, fruit, vegetables or yoghurt.

This food helps children to think faster.

What some children say

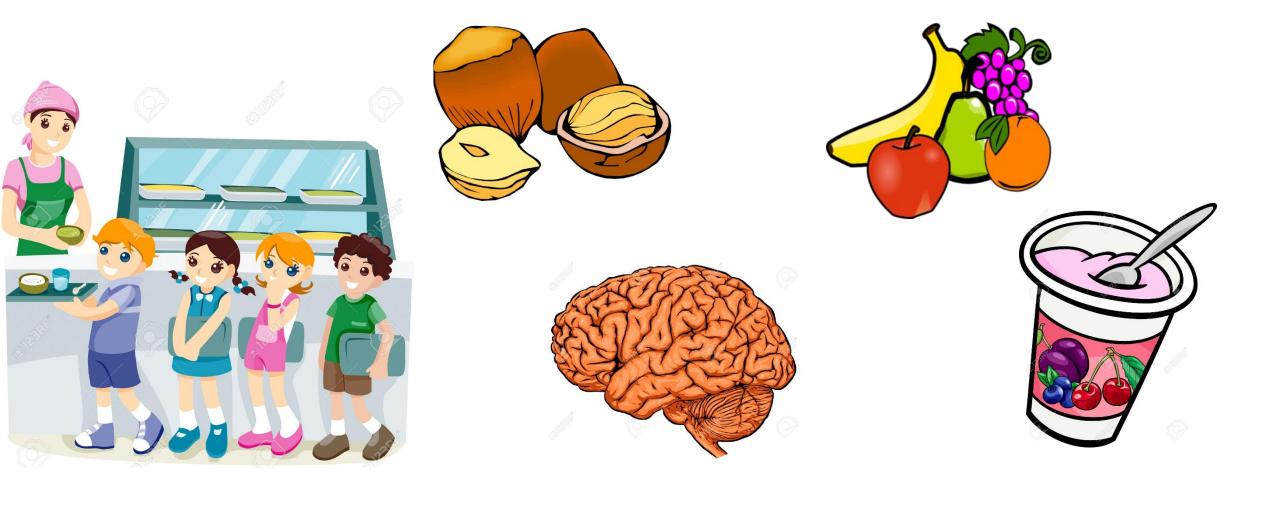

"At my school we can eat fruit and vegetables whenever we want." Derryth

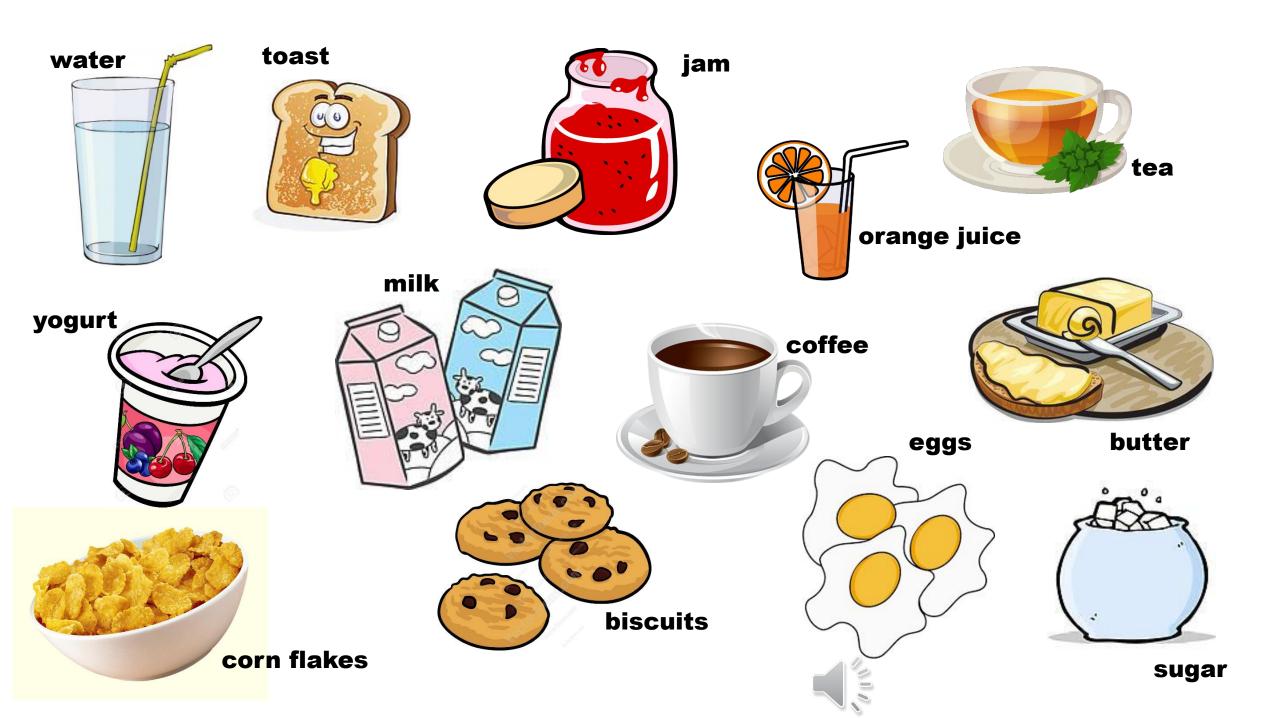

"In our family every person make breakfast oneself. I can do scrambled eggs on toast now." Kara

"We have a big breakfast on Sunday because it's the only day when the whole family is there. I like that." Jacinta

Match the words with pictures below

An yogurt a canteen a brain nuts fruits vegetables

FUND Stores

Duck

A duck walks into a feed store and asks, "Got any duck feed?"

The clerk tells him, "No, we don't have a market for it so we don't carry it."

The duck says, "Okay," and leaves.

The next day, the duck again walks in to the feed store and asks, "Got any duck feed?"

Again the clerk says no and the duck leaves.

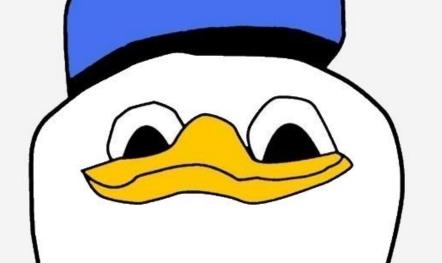

Next day, the duck once again walks in, and asks, "Got any duck feed?"

The clerk says, "I've told you twice, we don't have duck feed, we've never had duck feed and we never will have duck feed. If you ask me again, I'll nail your feet to the floor." The duck leaves.

The next day, the duck walks in and asks, "Got any nails?"

"No."

"Got any duck feed?"

Mental Patient

John and David were both patients in a Mental Hospital.

One day, while they were walking, they passed the hospital swimming pool and John suddenly dove into the deep end. He sank to the bottom and stayed there. David promptly jumped in and saved him, swimming to the bottom of the pool and pulling John out.

The medical director came to know of David's heroic act. He immediately ordered that David be discharged from the hospital as he now considered him to be OK. The doctor said, "David, we have good news and bad news for you! The good news is that we are going to discharge you because you have regained your sanity. Since you were able to jump in and save another patient, you must be mentally stable. The bad news is that the patient that you saved hung himself in the bathroom and died after all."

David replied, "Doctor, John didn't hang himself. I hung him there to dry."

Bad Date Joke

"Hi Sarah, listen I only have a minute. I'm about to get picked up for a blind date, can you call me in a half hour just in case it's going bad? Yes? Ok great! We'll speak."

Raquel gave herself a quick spray of perfume, checked herself out one more time in the mirror, and headed outside to wait for the guy. Sure enough after twenty minutes Raquel was discreetly checking her watch. After ten more long minutes her phone finally buzzed.

Raquel listened for a few seconds, grimly pursed her lips, and turned to her date, "I feel terrible, but my Grandmother is terribly sick, and I must go home now ."

"No problem!" Said her date with a big grin, "in a few more minutes my dog was going to get run over!"

Crocodile

TEACHER: Glenn, how do you spell 'crocodile?'

GLENN: K-R-O-K-O-D-I-A-L'

TEACHER: No, that's wrong.

GLENN: Maybe it is wrong, but you asked me how I spell it.

One famous composer was once invited to dinner. The dinner was delicious: the guests were served big juicy pieces of mutton, pork and lamb.

After the meal the host's daughter played some pieces by Beethoven, Mozart and Brahms.

When the concert was over the girl's mother came to the composer and asked: "Maestro, which piece did you like most of all?" "The piece of lamb," was the answer.

Two men, who are in the country for holidays, are walking in an orchard. They see that there are a lot of apples on all trees. Only on one tree there are no apples at all. A small country boy is sitting near that tree.

They call him: "Come here, boy. Do you know why there are no apples on this tree?" "Of course I do," answers the boy, "because it's an oak-tree."

What's in the basement?

Mommy told me never to go into the basement, but I wanted to see what was making that noise. It kind of sounded like a puppy, and I wanted to see the puppy, so I opened the basement door and tiptoed down a bit. I didn't see a puppy, and then Mommy yanked me out of the basement and yelled at me. Mommy had never yelled at me before, and it made me sad and I cried.

Then Mommy told me never to go into the basement again, and she gave me a cookie. That made me feel better, so I didn't ask her why the boy in the basement was making noises like a puppy, or why he had no hands or feet.

All I saw was red

I checked into a small hotel. It was late and I was tired. I told the woman at desk that I wanted a room. She gave me the key and said, "One more thing - there is one room without a number on your floor and it is always locked. Don't even peek in there." I took the key, went into my room and tried to sleep.

Night came and I heard trickling of water. I could not sleep, so I opened my door and went into the hall. The sound was coming from the room with no number. I pounded on the door. No response. I looked into the keyhole and saw nothing except red. Water was still trickling. I went down to the front desk to complain.

"By the way who is in that room?" She looked at me and told me the story. There was woman in there. She was murdered by her husband. Her skin was all white, except for her eyes, which were red.

A hedgehog's heart beats 300 times a minute on average.

Between 25% and 33% of the population sneeze when exposed to light.

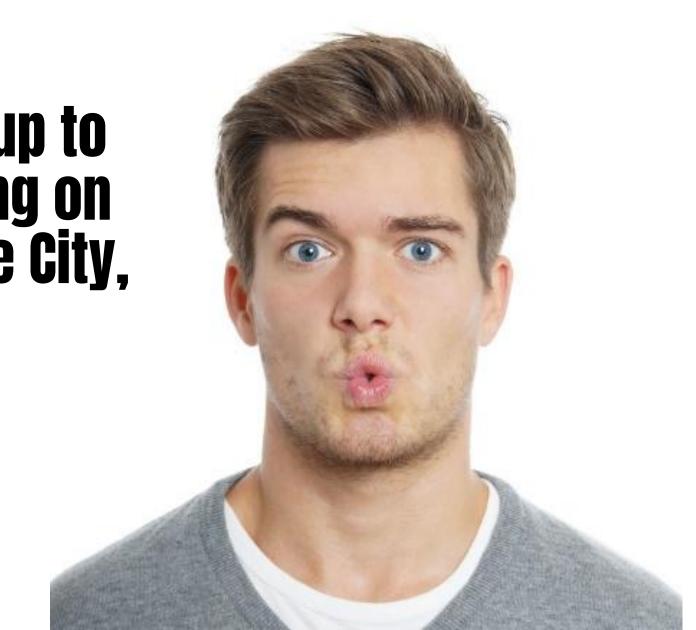

The most common name in world is Muhammad.

Mount Olympus Mons on Mars is three times the size of Mount Everest.

You can be fined up to $1,000 for whistling on Sunday in Salt Lake City, Utah.

In space, astronauts are unable to cry, because there is no gravity and the tears won't flow.

There are more plastic flamingos in the U.S that there are real ones.

During it's lifetime an oyster changes its sex from male to female and back several times.

Choose one of the following topics and wright your own story/facts:

- 1) Funny story
- 2) Horror story
- 3) Facts (6-7)

Hello! My name is Marquis!

I am WHITE. And it is my favorite color.

I like to eat White milk, play with White thread and catch White mouse.

And I absolutely like snow!

I am Bagira and I like BLACK color.

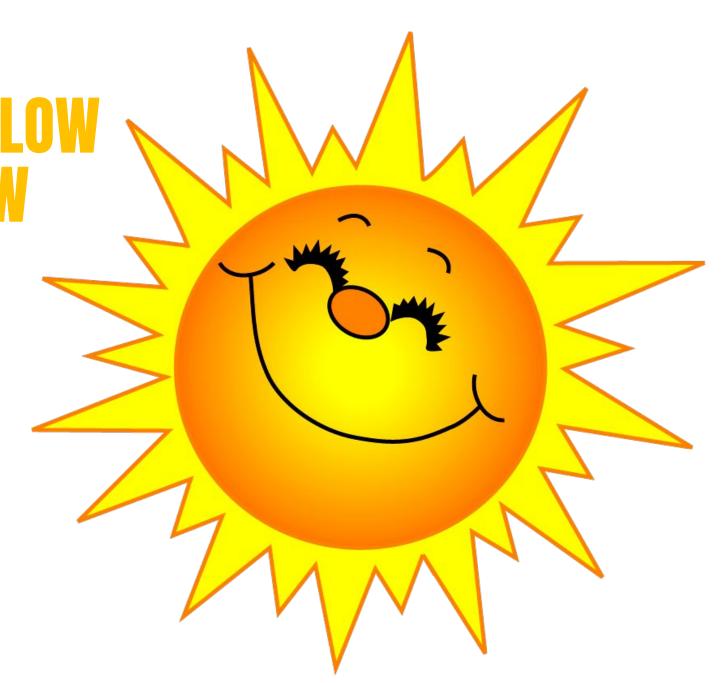

I wear BLACK fur and hunt in the BLACK

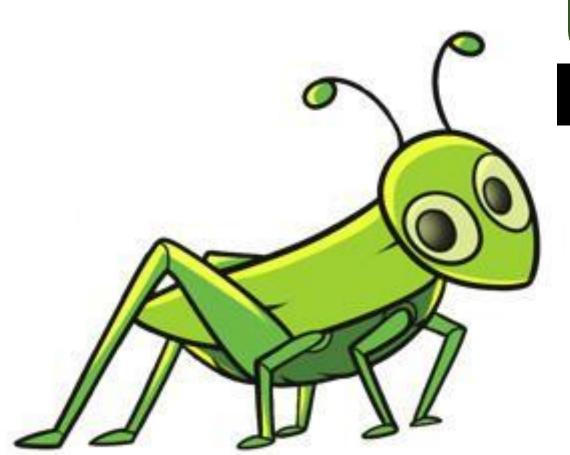

Dragon has RED skin and RED fire.

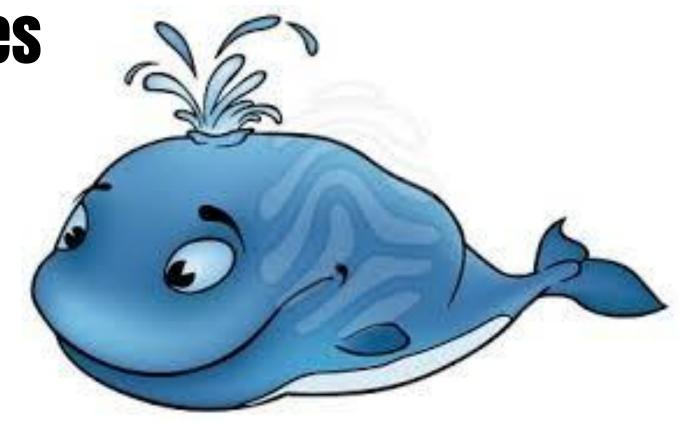

YELLOW Sun loves YELLOW flowers and YELLOW bananas.

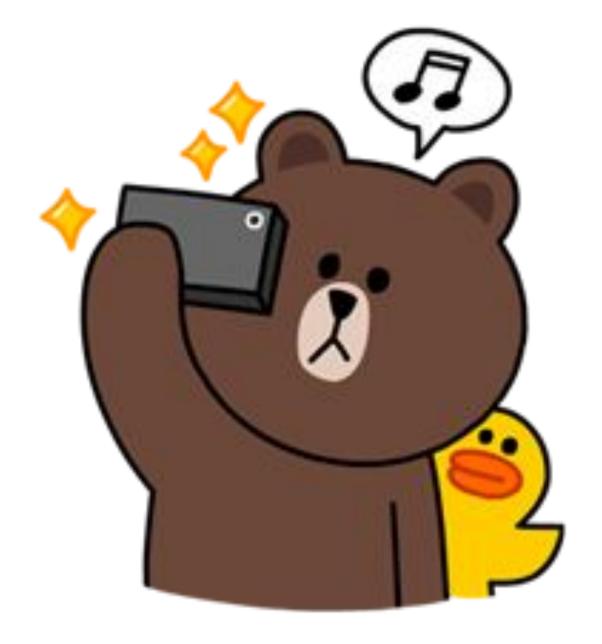

GREEN grasshopper lives in GREEN grace and eats GREEN cucumbers.

BLUE whale lives in the BLUE sea and likes BLUE seaweed.

The Brown bear loves Brown CHOCOLATE. His friend is Brown OWI.

Milk, thread, mouse, snow are Fur, night are Skin, fire are Sun, flowers, bananas are Grasshopper, grace, cucumber are Whale, sea, seaweed are Bear, chocolate, owl are Fox, fruits are Flamingos, sundown are Snails, grape are

Origins of the Days of the Week

How about where the names of each weekday come from?

The seven-day week originates from the calendar of the Babylonians, which in turn is based on a Sumerian calendar dated to 21st-century B.C.

Seven days corresponds to the time it takes for a moon to transition between each phase: full, waning half, new and waxing half.

Because the moon cycle is 29.53 days long, the Babylonians would insert one or two days into the final week of each month.

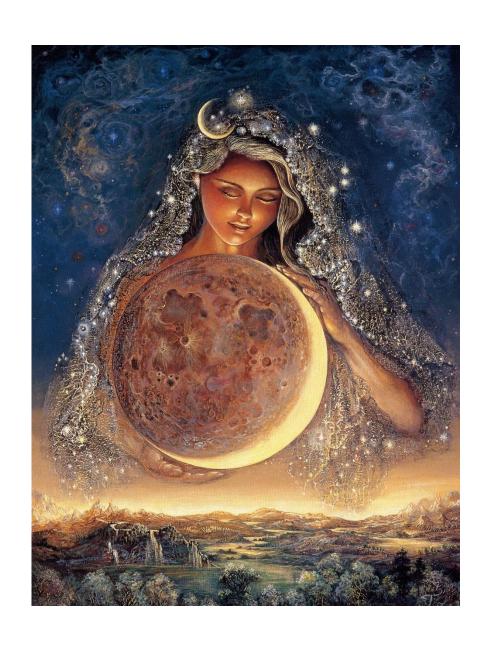

The Romans named the days of the week after their gods and corresponded to the five known planets plus the sun and moon (which the Romans also considered planets).

To this day, all Romance languages (most familiarly Spanish, French, and Italian) still bear the mark of Roman day names, the exception being Sunday, which now translates to "Lord's Day" and Saturday, which translates to "Sabbath."

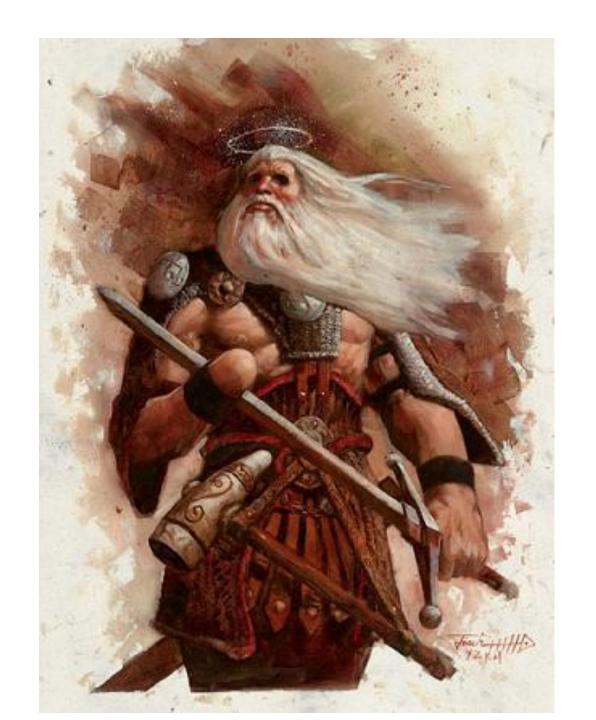

Monday

Monday likewise comes from Old English "Monandæg," named after Máni, the Norse personification of the moon.

Tuesday

Tuesday comes from Old English "Tīwesdæg," after Tiw, or Tyr, a one-handed Norse god of dueling. He is equated with Mars, the Roman war god.

Wednesday

Wednesday is "Wōden's day."
Wōden, or Odin, was the ruler of the Norse gods' realm and associated with wisdom, magic,
victory and death.

The Romans connected Wōden to Mercury because they were both guides of souls after death. "Wednesday" comes from Old English "Wōdnesdæg."

Thursday

Thursday, "Thor's day," gets its English name after the hammer-wielding Norse god of thunder, strength and protection.

The Roman god Jupiter, as well as being the king of gods, was the god of the sky and thunder. "Thursday" comes from Old English "Dūnresdæg."

Friday

Friday is named after the wife of Odin. Some scholars say her name was Frigg; others say it was Freya; other scholars say Frigg and Freya were two separate godnesses.

Whatever her name, she was often associated with Venus, the Roman goddess of love, beauty and fertility. "Friday" comes from Old English "Frīgedæg."

Saturday

As for Saturday, Germanic and Norse traditions didn't assign any of their gods to this day of the week. They retained the Roman name instead.

The English word "Saturday" comes from the Anglo-Saxon word "Sæturnesdæg," which translates to "Saturn's day."

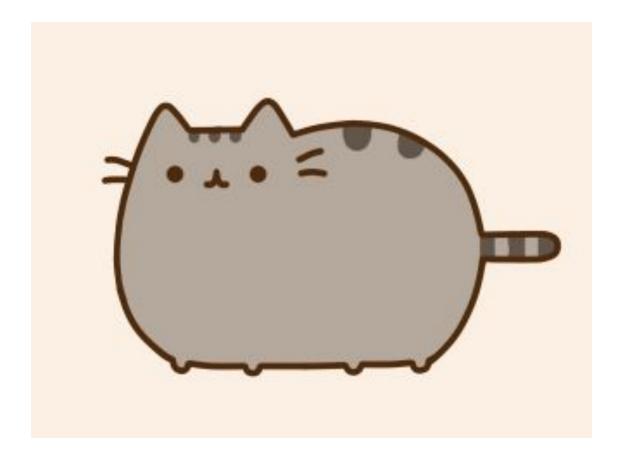

Sunday

Sunday comes from Old English "Sunnandæg," which is derived from a Germanic interpretation of the Latin dies solis, "sun's day." Germanic and Norse mythology personify the sun as a goddess named Sunna or Sól.

Hello! It's me again!
And today I'm going to tell you about my everyday duties.

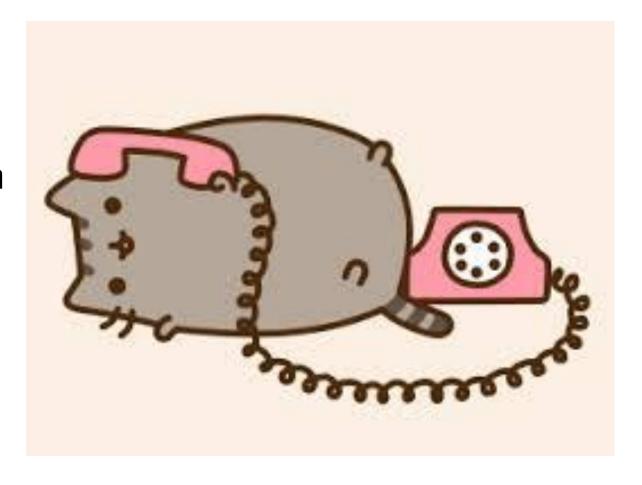

Actually, it's not duties, because I do nothing. But, by the way, there is something especial about every day...

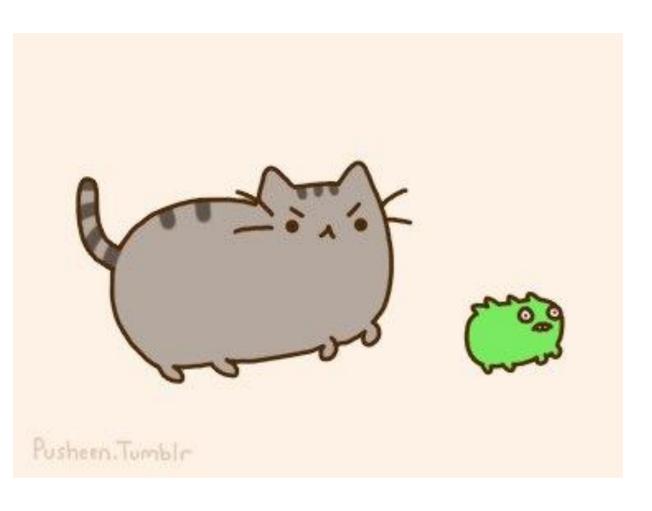

Monday

On Monday I usually seat by the phone and communicate with my friends.

We discuss important issues. For example, what we can eat for lunch or what movie better watch in the evening.

Tuesday

On Tuesday I get rid of uninvited guests in my house. But it's useless!

They are coming every Tuesday again!

Wednesday

On Wednesday I enjoy my life, walk among trees and listen to birds singing.

Thursday

On Thursday I always take a sunbath. It's good for my fluffy fur and mood!

Friday

On Friday I buy a lot of ice-cream and eat it all day!

Saturday

In the end of week I feel myself so tired! That's why I do nothing on Saturday but eating pudding.

UNIQLO + Pusheen

Sunday

On Sunday I visit my mommy and we spend time together.
I love my mom!
And you?

And what do you do every day?

Write your own list of every day's duties for:

Monday

Tuesday

Wednesday

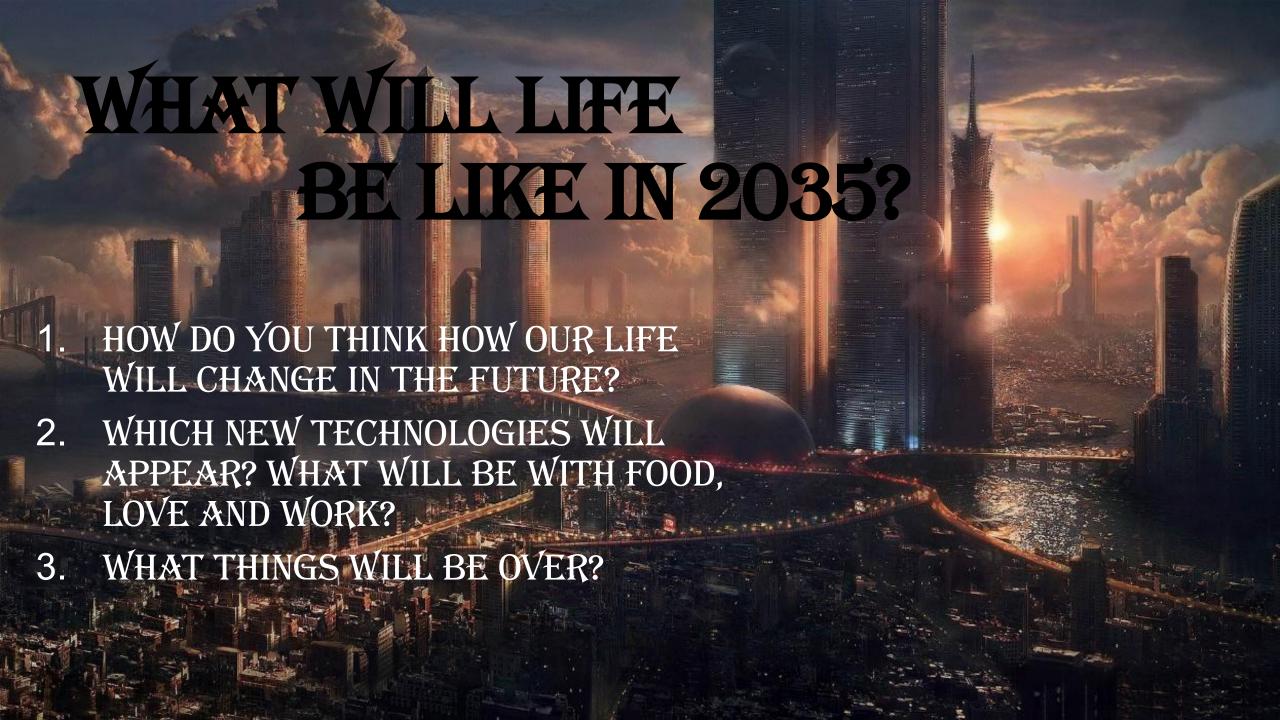

Thursday

Friday

Saturday

Sunday

GRASSHOPPER NUGGETS, AMBULANCE DRONES AND SELF-DRIVING CARS...
HOW DIFFERENT MIGHT LIFE BE 20 YEARS FROM NOW?
TECHNOLOGY EXPERT DEAN EVANS INVESTIGATES.

Back in 1995 we were in the early days of the internet, we worked in cubicles and our computers were chunky and powered by Windows 95. There were no touch screen phones or flat screen TVs; people laughed at the idea of reading electronic books.

So, what will our world really be like 20 years from now? The world in 2035 will probably be much like it is today, but smarter and more automatic. Some innovations we might not notice, while others will change our lives forever.

THE FUTURE OF FOOD

What it won't be like: The scene in "Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory", where Violet Beauregarde has a three-course roast dinner in a stick of chewing gum.

What it could be like: Google's Ray Kurzweil says:

'The next major food revolution will be vertical agriculture in which we grow food in vertical buildings rather than horizontal land: hydroponic plants for fruits and vegetables and in-vitro cloned meat.'

If that doesn't work, we could be eating insects in 2035.

Already popular in parts of Asia, insects are protein-rich, low in fat and a good source of calcium. Hey, don't knock a roasted grasshopper until you try it.

THE FUTURE OF WORK

What it won't be like: The film "Metropolis", where battalions of sullen workers are machines which work ten-hour shifts.

What it could be like: Automation is likely to make some jobs redundant: taxi drivers replaced by self-driving cars; receptionists replaced by robots.

Obviously, there will also be new jobs created: the computer engineer/mechanic who fixes the self-driving taxis; bioengineers; space tour guides; and vertical farmers.

Those of us who work probably won't do so in a traditional office either. We're already seeing a shift in the definition of work: it's now a task you perform, not a place you go to. Productivity is no longer measured by sitting at a desk.

THE FUTURE OF HEALTH

What it won't be like: Any episode of "Star Trek" where Bones uses a tricorder, diagnoses the illness and then cures it with a hypo-spray.

What it could be like: Prevention will become the focus as we gain greater control of our health information, using self-monitoring biosensors and smart watches to continuously gather fitness data.

People will be able to take action early, changing lifestyle habits or taking designer drugs tailored to their individual DNA.

THE FUTURE OF TECHNOLOGY

What it won't be like: The film "Elysium", where the super-rich have abandoned earth to live on a luxury space station.

What it could be like: Technology will get smaller, smarter and cheaper. In fact, it will get so small, smart and cheap that we'll be able to put computers and sensors into almost anything – fridges will tell us when we've run out of milk, bins will tell the council when they're full, televisions will notice when we've stopped watching and turn themselves off to save power.

We're on the road to the internet of things where everything is connected, not only to the internet but also to one another.

Agreement and disagreement

So do I / Neither do I

I am a doctor. - So am I.

I am not a doctor. - Neither am I.

Express your agreement

I often drink orange juice.

He never liked Mary.

I have a big car.

My father hasn't finished his work yet.

I will go to Barbados next summer!

My brother can't ski.

I was sleeping at 9 o'clock.

Me too/Me neither

love Angelina Jolie. - Me too!

I haven't been to Spain. - Me neither.

I agree with you 100 percent.

I couldn't agree with you more.

I agree entirely. / I totally agree. / I completely agree.

That's so true.

That's for sure.

You're absolutely right.

I think you're right

Absolutely / Exactly

That's exactly how I feel.

I'm afraid I agree with James.

I have to side with Matt on this one.

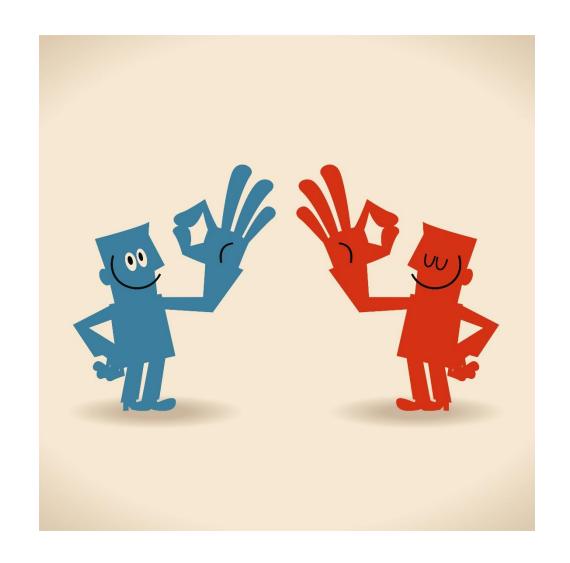

No doubt about it.

I suppose so./I guess so.

You have a point there.

I was just going to say that.

Agreement

Disagreement

I don't think so.

No way.

I'm afraid I disagree.

I can't agree with you.

I totally disagree. / I don't agree at all.

I beg to differ.

I don't share your opinion.

I'd say the exact opposite.

Not necessarily.

That's not always true. / That's not always the case.

No, I'm not so sure about that.

I think we're going to have to agree to disagree.

I couldn't agree with you less.