Flag

The national flag is the Red Dragon. No one knows for sure how the red dragon came to become a symbol. Its origin is now lost in history and myths. It was officially recognised as national flag in 1959.

The National Symbol

Wales has got two national symbols.
These are the daffodil and the leek.

They are both connected to the Patron Saint.
Today each year on St. David's Day the leek is worn in the cap badges of every soldier in every regiment.

But outside the army, many other people have substituted the leek by the daffodil, perhaps because it looks more attractive and certainly smells a lot better.

The daffodil is also associated with St. David's Day, due to the fact that it breaks into blossom on that day. Interesting to note that one of the many names for a daffodil is "Cenhinen Bedr" which means "Peter's leek".

St. David is the patron saint.

He was a monk who lived on bread, water, herbs and leeks and died on March 1, 589 A. D.

March 1st, St. David's Day is Now a national day.

Government

It is a country that is a part of the United Kingdom (UK). Constitutionally, the UK is a parliamentary monarchy. In the House of Commons - the lower house of the UK government – it is represented by 40 Member of Parliament (of 646) from constituencies.

The head of the UK is the British monarch, Queen Elizabeth II.

Royal Badge

In 1301 Edward I of England made his eldest son Prince of This tradition has been kept until present day and in 1969 such a ceremony took place again. The Queen made her eldest son, Charles, Prince of ...at Caernarfon castle.

Landscapes

It is a generally mountainous country. The highest mountain is Snowdon (1085 m.)

The Dee River, with its headwaters in Bala Lake, the largest natural lake.

Numerous smaller rivers cover the south, including the Usk, Wye, Teifi, and Towy.

There are three National Parks, they are protected by law. The most famous of the parks is Snowdonia in the north west.

It has a changeable, maritime climate and is one of the wettest countries in Europe. Weather is often cloudy, wet and windy, with warm summers and mild winters.

The coasts and surrounding islands are home to colonies of gannets, Manx shearwater, puffins, kittiwakes, shags and razorbills.

The Red Kite is a national symbol of wildlife.

The national costume of women is a red cloak, a long skirt, an apron and a high black hat. The men don't have a national costume.

The people are fond of folk music, singing, poetry and drama. Every year an international festival called Eisteddfod is held. It is a festival of culture. People come from all over the world to recite poetry, sing and dance in this colourful competition.

Traditions

A favourite souvenir for the tourists is love spoon.

They are made of wood and are very beautifully carved.

Originally, they were made by young men as a love token for their sweethearts. There are many different designs demonstrating the skill and love. Traditionally, the spoons were carved from one piece of wood and had a number of symbols such as hearts (for love), bells (for the hoped—for wedding), a horseshoe (for luck), a dragon (for protection).

Some traditional dishes include rarebit, lamb, laverbread, leek stew, bara brith (speckled bread), Teisen lap (fruit cake) and the famous cakes.

Sport

Population enjoy their traditional sports like football and rugby...

...but also love taking part in some more unusual activities.
